

U. S. TROOPS STAY IN NICARAGUA

New Probe of McPherson Case Ordered

There need be no regret of disappointed personal vindictiveness in this. Nobody and nothing would be better off for locking Doherty behind the bars. They will never grab another oil field, nor make questionable personal "loans," and their exposure has made it less likely that others will do so. The main thing was that the truth should come out, and that has been accomplished. If it has satisfied the ver the much-walkers nor the whitewashers, so much the more likely is it that it is the truth.

ALSO, historically, it is the end of a story whose whole moral is that "practical politics" is not practical. It begins with the nomination of Harding himself, whom practical men chose for his faults, and elected by a campaign of mutually contradictory false pretenses. Even they did not have their reward. Harding may have stained some of his faults, but not the one they chose him for. Instead of the passive creature of the Senate reactionaries, he became in many ways their master. Instead of the flabby opportunist, he became, in one half of his character, an aroused idealist. Even the grace of God could not regenerate his intellect but it did the major fraction of his character. He became a fervent and diligent, though not always enlightened public servant, and he died a martyr to the very cause which they had chosen him to defeat.

BUT, on one side, Harding remained the practical politician, and on that side was his most practical failure. The first principle of practical politics is that loyalty to your friends is paramount to all other considerations. It is a standard inherited from feudal times; but the practical politician is still medieval. Harding, in one half of his administration, lived down to it—and he had the wrong friends. He appointed Hughes, Hoover and Mellon to placate the "highbrows" and to realize his own newly aroused ideal. But politics is after all a vote-getting game, and somebody must be in the administration who can get the votes. So Fall, Denby and Daugherty were also appointed, and Daugherty's gang attached themselves.

THE outcome was that the only vote-getters in the entire administration: the only ones who made it possible to survive at all the transition to the Coolidge administration, were precisely these "impractical idealists" and "highbrows" and the only achievement of the practical vote-getters was to lose votes wholesale. The only things for which the Harding administration is remembered with respect, aside from the genuinely lovable personality of the man himself, are those which are connected with the "highbrow" half of his cabinet, and with the aroused idealism which the President disapproved. And the most terrible warning in his memory is against over again doing the sort of practical politics, and being bound by the sort of personal loyalties, which masked the other half of his administration and of his character.

HARDING personally was a victim and a martyr. He did none of the scandalous things himself, and he was in a towering rage at the only one of them which he discovered that others were doing. He struggled, with genuine devotion, upward toward the responsibilities of a position for which neither nature nor training had equipped him, and he did, on the whole, surprisingly well. His failures were in carrying out the principle which practical politics considers the only sacred one. Now the last chapter in that sorry half of the story is ended, with Harding personally untouched, and the friends to whom he was too loyal still unjailed.

It is an example and a warning to future ages.

STATE PRINTER ON EDUCATION BOARD

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 29.—State Printer John E. King today was appointed member of the state board of education, succeeding C. A. Storke, of Santa Barbara, resigned.

Appointment of King places the board of education, with the exception of Clarence Jarvis, of Sacramento, and two women members, in the hands of newspaper editors. King was formerly a newspaper editor in Hemet.

Dr. Edward F. Glaser, San Francisco, was reappointed a member of the state board of health, and the Rev. Robert E. Kennen, Santa Clara, was named member of the California Redwood park commission, to succeed the Rev. Z. J. Maher, resigned.

CHARGES ON PASTOR MAY BE DROPPED

Dismissal Seen If Grand Jury Fails to Indict Four Held in Kidnap Mystery

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29.—Alleged perjurer testimony given by Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman, at the preliminary hearing of Aimee Semple McPherson, has caused District Attorney Asa Keyes to order a new grand jury investigation of the McPherson kidnaping mystery, it was learned today.

Mrs. Wiseman was the state's star witness and co-defendant with the evangelist and her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, accused of perpetrating a kidnapping hoax and manufacturing false evidence in connection with Mrs. McPherson's disappearance.

The grand jury will convene at 10 a. m., tomorrow, according to Keyes, when efforts will begin to obtain a blanket indictment of the three women, and Kenneth G. Ormiston, former Angelus temple radio operator.

Keyes will demand also that Mrs. Wiseman be indicted for her asserted false testimony against Mrs. McPherson. It was learned at the district attorney's office.

Case May Be Dropped

If a blanket indictment is not returned against the four defendants, the entire McPherson case will be dismissed, and the evangelist and her associates will never go to trial, it was asserted at the district attorney's office.

SLAYER SPIRITED AWAY AS THREATENING MOB GATHERS

CLOVIS, N. M., Dec. 29.—George J. Hessel, confessed slayer of 13 persons, was spirited away from the Texico-Farwell jail last night, when a mob formed about the doors and threatened to break in and lynch the rancher.

Following his signed confession relating to the killing of his family and a woman and

WOMAN HELD ON CHARGE OF EMBEZZLING CASH OBTAINED FOR PIPE LINE "INVESTMENT"

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29.—Mrs. Mary Leanghorne, 58, was held in the county jail here today, following her extradition from Yuma, Ariz., on charges of embezzlement.

She was taken into custody on the specific charge of embezzling $3000 from Mrs. Margaret Nonemacher, Los Angeles, but is said to be wanted also in Riverside, Yuma, and Oakland for asserted Bunko activities.

Mrs. Leanghorne is accused of victimizing Mrs. Nonemacher while on a trip from New York to Los Angeles on the steamer Mongolia. She is said to have received the $3000 from Mrs. Nonemacher for investment in the Prairie Oil and Pipe Line company, for which she claimed to have an original contract for $500,000.

Instead of investing the money, she pocketed it, it is claimed.

DELEGATES AT RIVER PARLEY FAIL TO AGREE

Deadlock Continues Over Division of Waters Of Colorado

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29.—Still deadlocked, after more than two weeks of deliberations, the tri-state Colorado river conference was resumed today behind closed doors.

Delegations from the three states, Arizona, Nevada and California, continued their arguments over division of the water and power to be derived from Boulder dam, in an apparent spirit of hopelessness.

The same arguments which have been advanced day after day were reiterated behind the locked doors. Arizona was still demanding several times as much tax or royalty from California on Boulder dam water and power as this state was willing to agree to pay. The Arizona delegation demanded more water, also, than the California representatives were willing to allow.

A formal statement, issued by the conference last night, following the first day of secret deliberations, was non-committal. It merely stated that the Arizona and California delegations were still in disagreement.

JAPANESE PRINCE LANDS IN GOTHAM

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—Prince Yasuhiro Chichibu, of Japan, second son of the late Emperor Yoshihito, after having spent his first night on American soil here, spent only a few hours in New York today, before leaving for Washington, at 11 a. m., enroute to San Francisco, on his hasty trip to Tokyo.

The youthful prince was visibly affected when words of condolence on the death of the emperor were extended to him.

He will pay his respects to President Coolidge, Thursday afternoon. His hurried trip, since having been summoned home from Oxford university, will be devoid of any social engagements.

Engineer to End 57-Year Service

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 29.—After 57 years and three months of continuous service, the longest in the history of the Southern Pacific company, Roger Trewick, passenger engineer, will be retired under the pensions rules of the company, when he finishes his run to Pacific Grove, on New Year's Eve. The next day he will celebrate his seventieth birthday.

SUBDUE FIRE ON SHIP

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 29.—The Japanese steamer Tokiwa Maru, Seattle to Yokohama, suffered a heavy cargo damage by fire, according to advice to the marine exchange of the chamber of commerce today. The blaze finally was extinguished.

WILBUR WILL BE QUIZZED ON JAP SCARE

Secretary to Testify Before House Committee on Admiral Gleaves Report

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Secretary of the Navy Wilbur has agreed to appear before the house naval committee, to be questioned on the "Japanese war scare" report of Admiral Gleaves, Representative McClintic, Democrat, Oklahoma, announced today.

Admiral Gleaves report, made to the navy in 1921, figured prominently in the recent Fall-Doherty trial. It is reported to have charged Japan was planning an attack on the United States.

McClintic requested Wilbur to submit the entire report, in confidence, to the committee, but the secretary refused.

McClintic denounced Wilbur for refusing to submit the report, declaring "the rank and file of the people will have no way of knowing the real situation that exists with respect to the safety and protection of the nation."

"I was advised some time ago by a high ranking officer of the navy," McClintic said, "that these so-called Japanese reports contained no information which would show a beligerent attitude on the part of Japan."

"In fact these reports, according to information given me, mostly concern the killing of an American sailor and the finding of some oil on the water after the Japanese earthquake. We have been unfortunate enough to have sailors killed in other countries without any thought of trouble between nations."

McClintic said he believed the Japanese "scare" was being put forth now to create sentiment for a new shipbuilding policy, involving from 400 to 500 million dollars.

Believes Public Deceived

Going on to other naval policies, McClintic said he believed "certain naval officers" deceived the public during the bombing of the battleship Washington. He recalled that first reports said large amounts of explosive bombs were dropped from airplanes on the ships when it was discovered later "there was no truth in any of these reports."

"Destroyers are the most efficient ships any nation can have from the standpoint of mobility and maneuverability," he said, pointing out the United States has 23 ships now tied up in various ports.

"Very few officers desire assignments on destroyers, however, because they do not afford the same conveniences as cruisers or battleships."

MAN KILLED WHEN TRAIN HITS AUTO

GLENDAL, Dec. 29.—Carlson Meek, of Monrovia, was killed, and A. R. Samuelson, Los Angeles, was critically injured, when their automobile collided with a Pacific Electric train here today.

The accident occurred at Glendale boulevard and Brunswick avenue.

Meek, who was driving, suffered a fractured skull. He died shortly after he was taken to the hospital in an ambulance. Samuelson was injured internally and may die.

Horse Discloses Big Liquor Still

SEATTLE, Dec. 29.—The search for liquor seemed futile, when one of the deputy sheriffs in the raiding party got a hunch. He bribed a "Gidap," said the deputy.

The horse trotted over what must have been a familiar road and drew up before a 100-gallon still.

Authorities arrested Robert King, 50, Maple Valley rancher, as the alleged owner. He was held in the county jail today, in lieu of bond.

ACTRESS DIVORCED

PARIS, Dec. 29.—Attorneys for Mary Hay (Caldwell), actress, were informed today that she had been granted a divorce by a Paris court from Richard Barthelmess, of the movies.

LIFE SPAN INCREASES 30 YEARS, SAVANTS ARE TOLD

Miracles of Science Discussed at Convention in Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 29.—The miracles which modern science is performing for the progress and development of the human race continued to be spread in profusion today before the convention of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Papers read before the society and its group meetings during the first day of the convention and at last night's session stressed the following points:

The human life span has been increased 30 years, Prof. T. Wingate Todd of Western Reserve university, said. Study of 1500 skulls has shown him that the ancient life span ended most frequently at 42 years, while today it is 72. The difference was attributed to greater safety and improved living conditions.

Height of Boy Increases

The average height of the American boy has increased 2 1-2 inches in the last 50 years, due to better control of infantile diseases, knowledge of vitamins and the power of sunlight, Dr. Horace Gray, of Chicago, told the anthropological section.

Study of Mars has shown the summer temperature at the south of the planet to be 77 degrees, ideal for life, W. W. Coblentz and C. P. Lampland, of the government bureau of standards, reported.

Fine ancestry is not more likely to produce a superior type of man or a genius than the masses of the people, Dr. Raymond Pearl, of Johns Hopkins university, said.

Geniuses From Common Folk

He added that the tricks of heredity can be relied on to produce in the future, as in the past, such geniuses as Shakespeare, Lincoln and Pasteur from the common people.

Crime is not due to weak intellect, but to greed, a group of sociologists concluded, after a discussion of crime and its cures. Most criminals rate high in intelligence tests they reported. Prompt trials, swift conviction and adequate punishment were urged as a cure.

Dr. Joseph Mayer, of Tufts college, said crime costs the nation four billion dollars annually.

2 ARE DEFEATED IN PRISON BREAK

FOLSOM PRISON, Dec. 29.—Two life-term convicts, who attempted a break for liberty from Folsom state prison, last night, were in their cells today, with nothing to show for their endeavor except loss of prison credits.

The men are Robert Edward Grant, Alameda robber, serving a life sentence for first-degree robbery, and Edward J. Ketcham, Los Angeles, received in July for a sentence of five years to life for burglary.

Absence of the men was discovered at roll call, but a search revealed them hiding in the prison quarry, where they had hoped to repeat the successful break of Leo Brennan, Thomas Griffin, and William O'Brien, two months ago.

Governor Names Secretary Judge

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 29.—Fletcher Brown, of Los Angeles, private secretary to Governor Richardson, expects to leave tomorrow for Los Angeles, to be sworn in as superior judge of Los Angeles county. Brown was appointed last night by the governor, following announcement of the resignation of Judge Joseph W. Vickers, who accepted the post until the end of the Richardson administration, to give Brown a chance to accept the judgeship.

PARDON FOR MOONEY WILL BE ASKED OF NEW GOVERNOR

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 29.—Friends of Thomas J. Mooney, serving a life sentence in San Quentin state prison for participation in the San Francisco Preparedness day bomb outrage, in 1916, today rallied their forces for an appeal next month to Gov.-elect C. C. Young, following Governor Richardson's announcement that he will not pardon Mooney.

Lack of time to consider the voluminous documents attached to the application for the pardon was cited by Governor Richardson, who said: "I desire to be fair in this matter, and will not deny the application."

Mooney was convicted of murder in the bomb explosion that killed nine persons and wounded others. Sentenced to death, his sentence was commuted by Governor Stephens, who refused to grant a pardon.

BLUEJACKETS ORDERED TO KEEP ON JOB

State Department Has No Intention of Altering Central American Policy

CENSORSHIP IS DENIED

Kellogg Is In Conference With Coolidge and Borah On Grave Latin Situation

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—The administration has adopted a policy of treading more softly in Nicaragua, the United Press learned from an authoritative source this afternoon.

The new policy was mapped at two conferences between President Coolidge and Secretary of State Kellogg, last night and this morning, it was understood.

Although there is no intimation of withdrawing marines and sailors now on duty in neutral zones already established in Nicaragua, their activities will not be extended unless it is absolutely necessary to protect American lives and property, according to this source.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Indignant over senatorial and foreign criticisms of U. S. occupation of Nicaragua east coast ports as imperialistic and unjustified, Secretary Kellogg decided today to continue the occupation, regardless of objections.

This decision was reached, following early morning conferences of Kellogg with President Coolidge and Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, chairman of the foreign relations committee.

The state department has no intention of withdrawing the American forces, which are simply protecting foreign lives and property and which have orders to continue to do so, it was said on Kellogg's behalf.

U. S. Censorship Denied

In a wholesale denial of reports regarding United States policy in Nicaragua, Secretary Kellogg today authorized the statement that there is no American censorship in the occupied areas and that no foreign government has made any representations to the state department regarding alleged American interference.

Whatever has actually happened in Nicaragua, the state department's instructions to Admiral Latimer there strictly limit his action to protection of foreign lives and property, Senator Borah said, after his conference with Kellogg.

Press reports of charges by representatives of the Sacaca Liberal government that Americans discriminated against them at their capital, Puerto Cabezas, and searched President Sacaca's residence, are denied by Latimer's official cables, Borah said.

Developments Thought Near

The conferences today between President Coolidge and Secretary of State Kellogg and Senator Borah, following yesterday's long discussion between the president, Kellogg and Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, gave rise to reports that important developments in the Nicaraguan situation are imminent.

The secretary of state conferred with Mr. Coolidge, at the White House early this morning, before office hours.

The movement to bring the entire Nicaraguan situation out in the open, gained headway in senatorial circles. A member of the foreign relations committee is understood to have prepared a bill requiring registration of Washington agents of both factions in Nicaragua. A resolution by Senator Moses, Republican, New Hampshire, for investigation of the entire Nicaraguan situation, is now before the foreign relations committee. Other similar attempts to remove the secrecy from activities of the navy's special service squadron and the state department are expected when congress convenes, January 3.

EMBARGO ON ARMS IMPORTS SUGGESTED

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Dec. 29.—Proclamation of what would amount to an embargo against the importation of arms into Nicaragua thereby bringing major military operations there to an early end, may soon be urged upon Adm. Julián Amador, U. S. navy, the United Press learned today, by President Adolfo Diaz, leader of the Conservative party, whose government here is recognized by the United States.

Diaz, it is understood, hoped to counter the menace of superior arms in possession of the Liberal faction, recognized by Mexico, with a request that Latimer impose neutralization upon the entire west coast of Nicaragua, as well as upon the east coast ports, already neutralized by the landing of armed

CIVILIZATION OF
WEST TOLD IN LIBRARY BOOK

Giving a complete account of the civilizing of the western states during the nineteenth century, the book, "Taming of the Frontier," edited by Duncan Aiken, is at the city library and is ready for circulation, according to Miss Jeannette McFadden, librarian.

The book contains 10 short stories, written by persons familiar with the part of the country about which they have written. In each story is a concise history of a certain section of the country or of the city in that section which best reflects the growth of the smaller towns and settlements around it.

The titles of the 10 short stories and their authors are as follows:
"El Paso," Owen P. White; "Ogden," Bernard De Voto; "Denver," George Loomis; "San Francisco,"
Idwal Jones; "St. Paul," Grace
Flandrau; "Portland," Dean Collins; "Kansas City," Henry J.
Haskell; "San Antonio," Dora
Neill Raymond; "Los Angeles," Paul Jordan-Smith, and "Cheyenne," Cary Abbott.

At various points throughout these stories are brief word illustrations, which bring out some characteristic of the section being described.

Another book, dealing with the early frontier days, according to Miss McFadden, is "The Overland Mail," by LeRoy R. Hafer. The story deals with the period between 1849 and 1869.

Hafer's book opens with the gold rush, in '49, after which it soon was found necessary to develop some kind of postal system.
He describes the pony express and the later stage coach system and carries the reader to the time when it first was possible to send a letter by rail from the eastern coast to California. The book is filled with the interesting experiences of the carrier of western mail in the performances of their duties.

Another of the new books at the library, which is causing much comment, according to Miss Mc-Fadden, is "Thiers and the French Monarchy," by John M. S. Allison, who has chosen, as his subject, a man, Adolph Thiers, who still is unpopular in France, despite the fact that his death occurred many years ago. Thiers was born during the French revolution and was inculcated with the anti-royalist tendencies of those in power. The author explains why, even yet, Thiers has so many enemies in France.

"Gift and Art Shop Merchandising," by Grace P. T. Knudson, also was given special mention by Miss McFadden, who explained that the book is a complete work on the gift and art shop.

TENEMENT FOLK
CON MEN VICTIMS

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—The East Side has ended a brief flyer into high finance from $500,000 to $1-000,000 poorer, and with its dreams of comfort and riches turned into a manhunt.

Pushcart peddlers, tenement
dwellers and factory workers,
spurred by the loss of their Christmas and even life-time savings, were on the lookout for men and women who sold them worthless
"bonds" in a proposed project for new homes. Buyers of the "bonds" were promised 10 per cent interest.
And to help the search, a reward of $500 each for every swindler caught, was offered tonight by August Heckscher, financier, whose project for model housing in the tenement district apparently led the confidence workers to concoct their scheme.

Discovery of the activities of the gang, believed to number nearly 50 men and women, was made through banks which reported sudden, unusual withdrawals from savings accounts.

An investigation by Harry H.
Schlacht, president of the downtown chamber of commerce, was ordered.

Schlacht publicly called attention to the operation of the gang, and announced that since no bonds had been issued by those contemplating the remodeling of the district, the persons offering "bonds" for sale were swindlers, who should be held for arrest. Private detectives hired by the chamber of commerce, were working on the case, with arrests expected soon.

The confidence workers, Schlacht said, operated not only in the dingy districts of the lower East Side, where the penny is still a unit of trade, but extended activities to other crowded sections,
such as Brownsville, Brooklyn.

Their accents lead investigators to believe they are from the west.
They acted as persons with something so good that they were doing a favor to the residents in selling them the papers.

Rankin's—Third Floor

States mails is very likely to pass in the present senate. It was passed unanimously by the house last year and Senator Lawrence C.
Phillips of the senate committee on post office and post roads, who is now foster-fathering it, expects it to pass before the 69th congress expires.

The proposed law has received the enthusiastic backing of the postoffice department and of jurists and law enforcement officials throughout the land, who declare that the great majority of bandits

now are armed by a horde of mail order houses.

Congressman John F. Miller, of Seattle, wrote and introduced the bill. He came into contact with the "one-hand gun" situation years ago, first as a prosecuting attorney of Seattle. He introduced his bill in the 67th congress. It passed the house in the 68th and died in the senate. He brought it again into the 69th congress and now
soon expects it to be made law.

Nearly every large city, Miller pointed out in explaining the purpose of the bill, regulates the sale of firearms—applications and presentations of good reasons generally precede local purchases.

"But anybody can write to a mail order house and receive firearms through the mail," he said. "And every crook and thug in the country has adopted this method."

Two of the largest mail order houses have abandoned the practice of selling revolvers by mail, but the smaller and less scrupulous concerns are legion, and many of them specialize in firearms.

"Heaven only knows how many thousands of these guns are sent through the mails," said Congressman Miller. "We know that thousands are delivered in single cities."

"The first thing thugs and hold-up men do if they are urged by the police is to get rid of their guns. Then they send a rush requisition to some mail order house for more."

The only opposition to the proposed law which Miller has heard of comes from isolated sections in the far west which are remote from dealers in firearms and which have always depended on the mails for their shooting-irons. This element may be heard from in the senate, although the bill is on the unanimous consent calendar.

Miller doesn't predict that the law will end crime, but he holds it will help.

"War always brings on crime in its wake," he says. "An era of crime followed the Civil war. In time our crime wave probably will die down, but those of us who are living in the present might as well do all we can right now to help
it subside."

MUST MAINTAIN GUARD AGAINST FROST DAMAGE

Citrus growers will have to keep close tab on temperatures for at least two weeks longer, or until around January 12, in the opinion of many ranchers. Based on past observations, growers say the probability of damage to citrus fruits by a freeze will have passed by that date.

There was little change in temperatures this morning, compared with yesterday morning, readings ranging very close for the two mornings.

Harold Wahlberg, farm advisor, pointed out today that the hour of the extreme cold is receding, the low point being reached at a later hour each morning. The extreme low point was at 4 a. m. today, where on previous mornings it ranged from 1 to 3 a. m. Commenting on the fact that it requires maintained temperature of approximately 28 for four or five hours to do serious damage, the farm advisor said that the danger is lessened by the extreme low mark coming at 4 or 5 a. m.

Reports made to Wahlberg gave the following temperatures: Santa Ana, 30; Garden Grove, 29; West Orange, 26; Tustin, 26; La Habra and other northern Orange county points, 30; Orange, 30; and Villa Park, 31.

Exclusive Crosby Garwing's.

Ventures of Valencia

I had the great pleasure of interviewing Mrs. Frances H. Beeson, who organized and directs the Santa Ana Boys' chorus. I never would have known about this unusual group of singers if it were not for the program in the high school auditorium, a few weeks ago, had not told me about them in a newspaper office in Los Angeles. This gentleman never missing an opportunity to gratify his desire for the solace that music brings and owed an inspiring evening to Santa Ana.

He told me that the singing of Watson's "Anchored," the "Blacksmith," by Mozart, and the "Tyrolean Chorus," from "William Tell," were superb, and he compares the boys' chorus with the Sistine Chapel Boys' choir, in Rome. Mrs. Beeson told me that there are 160 boys in the chorus, selected from all grades in the schools and ranging from nine to 15 years in age. They must look fine in their orange smocks, black flowing scarves and white trousers and I could almost hear the natural sopranos of the younger boys lifted in harmony with the deeper tones of those older, as my enthusiastic friend told me of the concert. The chorus is sponsored by the junior chamber of commerce and the department of schools, while the board of education provided their library. Another program will be given January 27 and I am sure that all Santa Anans will show, by their attendance, that they are just as proud of their boys' chorus as they should be grateful for Mrs. Beeson's effort in training it. My associates of the Orange County Personality pageant will be glad to do everything possible to tell the world about the organization.

I also am a student of music and it is evidence of the cultural attributes of Santa Ana that, in addition to the boys' chorus, the city boasts of an academy of music and dramatic expression, mastered by D. C. Clanton. He has a large group of students and I listened to Miss Georgia Bell Walton play a violin solo, Miss Eileen Laird at the piano, and then a trio, by Miss Walton and Miss Helen McPeak, violinists, with Miss Laird at the piano. The professor's daughter, Miss Mary Clanton, gave a dramatic reading. These lovely girls all have the divine spark and I know are destined to be great artists. There are many others who worship at the shrine of the arts in Maestro Clanton's academy and for whom he holds great expectations, but, of course, I could not have the honor of listening to each one.

A stranger's impression of a city that supports groups like the academy and the boys' chorus and boasts a talented community of souls that make them possible, is certain to be favorable. I read somewhere that morality is but intelligence. With intelligence, comes an appreciation of her groups of song and music, that she is intelligent and therefore building on a rock foundation.

J. N. OSBORN, 73, DIES IN S. A. HOME

J. N. Osborn, resident of this city for the last 15 years, dropped dead in his home, 1639 East Fourth street, at 7 o'clock last night. He was 73 years of age.

Osborn had just entered the house and was standing in front of the fire place, when he was seized with the fatal heart attack. He had not been well for some time, but his condition was not considered serious.

Funeral services will be held in the Smith and Tuttle chapel at 2 p. m., Monday. The only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Osborn, Mrs. Cleo Van Dyke, is expected to arrive here Saturday from Winfield, O. Mr. Osborn is survived by the widow and daughter, a sister, Mrs. Mary Minter, of Winfield, and a brother, D. A. Osborn, of 856 North Ross street, this city.

Prior to coming here, in 1908, Mr. Osborn, for many years, was engaged in the lumber business in Winfield.

BILL DOAK IS AWAKE
NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—Bill Doak is anxious to return to the diamond but not in active duty on the mound. He is desirous of landing a managerial berth. Doak is the property of the Brooklyn Dodgers and is carried on the voluntarily retired list. He expects to acquire his release in the near future.

TOURIST RUSH IS REPORTED IN CITY'S HOTELS

With hotels and apartment houses accommodating increased numbers, there not only is a resumption of the ordinary volume of commercial and tourist travel here, but a big gain in the latter. Inquiries revealed today. In anticipation of a still greater volume, hotel men are making preparations to accommodate capacity houses, it was learned.

While Hotel Santa Ana and Hotel Rossmore report an appreciable increase in their registrations, the largest gain, in comparison with former figures, is reported from St. Ann's Inn. Included among the list of permanent guests for the remainder of the winter season are several society women from eastern states. In addition to these, reservations are on file for several couples, who expect to arrive here after the holidays.

An unusually heavy gain is reported by the management of Hotel Finley, where the volume of business has increased more than 50 per cent during the last month.

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Dec. 29.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Forster entertained 15 of their children and friends at Christmas dinner in their spacious home east of town. Those present were Miss Luciana Forster, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Romer, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Forster, Mr. and Mrs. Arley Leck, Hugo Forster, Miss Marie Ericarte, Maurice Ich, Paucho and Margerita Forster, Carlos Romer, Miss Incano and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Forster.

Dr. and Mrs. Hugh McVineh entertained their two daughters, Miss Marye and Miss Martha, of Los Angeles, recently.

The Christmas exercises of the Community Presbyterian church were held at the church Thursday evening. Mrs. Guy Williams had charge of the program. After this Dr. Minch spoke and then asked Mrs. Harry Barnes, chairman of the "great" committee, to take charge. A social time was enjoyed. The beautifully decorated tree was left standing for the Christmas services on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barnes entertained Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stillwell and three children, of El Segundo, Christmas Sunday.

Mrs. E. Shrewsbury and daughters, of Los Angeles, spent Christmas and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John Denari.

Anthony Joyce was with his family in Los Angeles for Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Raymond Henry and son, Harvey, spent Christmas with relatives in Los Angeles.

Miss Merle Rosenbaum, who is attending the University of California, southern branch, is visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Rosenbaum, during vacation.

Dave McMillen, athletic instructor at the high school, visited his mother in Covina last week.

Mrs. Dan McHenry shopped in Santa Ana Tuesday.

Charles Crumrine was in Santa Ana on business Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Russell Cook returned Monday from Los Angeles, where they had visited relatives and friends over Christmas.

Mrs. D. M. Gaugh and son, Julius, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bass and baby, who are visiting from New Mexico, visited relatives in Pomona Monday. Mrs. Bass is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Gaugh.

Harry McPherson, of Los Angeles, is visiting his mother, Mrs. W. McGee over the holidays.

PARALYSIS

September 23, 1926.

DEAR MR. WILSHIRE:

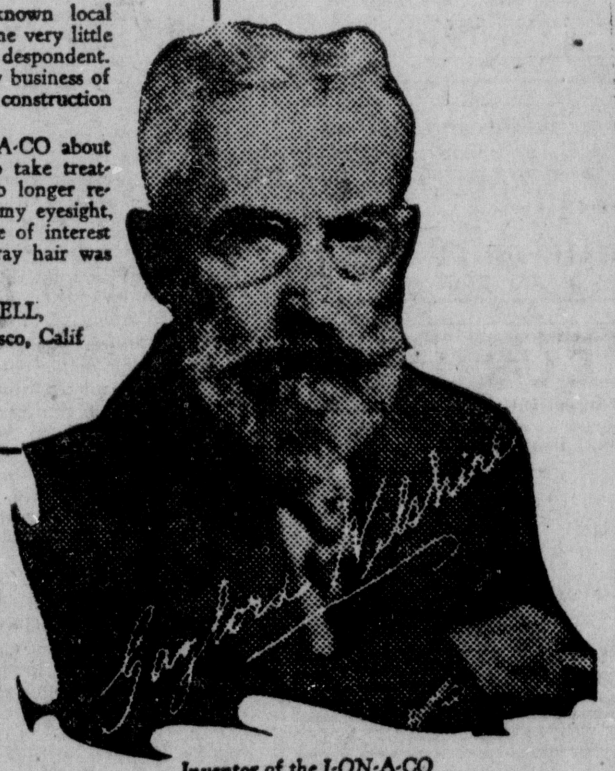

About six months ago on the 15th of March last, I had a paralytic stroke which completely disabled my left side and from my eye to my toes. I had difficulty in speaking; had to walk with a cane, and practically lost vision in my left eye.

I was treated by several well-known local physicians, and naturally they gave me very little hope. I naturally became very much despondent. I was quite unable to continue in my business of examining, for private parties, the construction of buildings.

I happened to hear of the I-ON-A-CO about two months ago and commenced to take treatment. After three treatments I no longer required a stick to help me to walk; my eyesight, too, was quite restored. It might be of interest to relate as a side issue that my gray hair was restored to its original color.

The Heralds of Refinement

Jewels are the external symbols of what to the giver is rarest, finest, a precious thought, a precious wish, a precious love. For the one who is to you most dear, you will want these heralds of refinement. You will want the world to see with material eyes what you alone can see inwardly.

Christmas Wedding Is Of Much Interest to Santa Ana Friends

Miss Clara Perkins, charming young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wyllys W. Perkins of Spurgeon street, chose Christmas day for her marriage to Harold Frederick Oelke of Anaheim, and made a very lovely holiday bride indeed at the ceremony which took place at the home of her sister, Mrs. William Thomas of McPherson.

The Thomas home was brilliantly decorated for the Yuletide, and it was against the unusual background of a sparkling Christmas tree that the young people plighted their troth at 5:30 o'clock. The Rev. W. W. Hull, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Orange, read the marriage service.

Miss Perkins chose a smart frock of flat crepe in two tones of green, a most becoming and appropriate costume for a Christmas bride. She wore a corsage of pale pink sweet peas.

The ceremony was followed by the family celebration of the holiday, a celebration which included a delightful dinner to be succeeded in turn by the enjoyment of the beautiful tree and its fruits. It was while the guests were examining the gifts from the tree that Mr. Oelke and his bride slipped away for their honeymoon trip.

Upon their return they will make their home in Anaheim where Mr. Oelke is with his brother, Herbert Oelke, in the fumigating business. They are sons of William C. Oelke of McFarland.

The members of the family gathered for the wedding and Christmas observance, included the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. William Thomas and small son Billy; Mr. and Mrs. Wyllys Perkins sr., parents of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Wyllys W. Perkins jr. and small son, Leon, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Perkins and baby, Marjorie Jean; Miss Elizabeth Perkins, Miss Gertrude Shell, Mrs. Mary Finch, Mr. and Mrs. Loring Dale, Archie Perkins, A. J. Perkins, C. S. Perkins, all of this vicinity; Mr. and Mrs. Vogts and Mr. and Mrs. Oelke, Anaheim, and the principals in the wedding ceremony, Miss Perkins and Mr. Oelke.

December Birthday Is Celebrated

Dr. and Mrs. D. A. Harwood of 814 South Birch street, were genial hosts at a delightful dinner party given last evening in honor of Mrs. Harwood's birthday.

The table was beautiful with its centerpiece of a bank of vivid red roses, a birthday gift, in combination with delicate Scotch heather, smilax and maidenhair fern. Red whip candles augmented the pretty effect, which was further enhanced by the little red nut baskets and the various features of the delectable menu, whose place de resistance was roast goose.

Bridge and 500 served to pass away the evening hours happily, those participating in the event with the hosts being their two sons, Chadron and Don Harwood, Mr. and Mrs. Severin Schulte, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe G. Hewitt, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Burton and Miss Helen West of Anaheim.

Boy Said to Have Admitted Thefts

With the arrest, yesterday afternoon, of a high school boy, who is said to have admitted one burglary and the theft of a number of automobile accessories from cars parked on Santa Ana streets, police announced today that a number of thefts may be cleared up. The boy is a juvenile and his case probably will be handled in the juvenile courts.

MERRYMAKERS RECALLING MANIFOLD CHRISTMAS JOYS

In Collier Home

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Collier were the happy hosts at a sumptuous turkey dinner Christmas day at their home, 610 South Broadway, where living and dining rooms were aglow with the decorations of the season. The beautifully appointed table was centered with a tiny tree with red candles on either side and oyster cocktail, turkey and plum pudding were the main delicacies, accompanied by all of this appetizing accessories, served at two o'clock.

Besides the hosts covers were placed for their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Collier, the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Johnson and son Arthur, of Huntington Beach and Grandma (Mrs. Bertha K.) Johnson. The family party was well remembered with handsome gifts by Santa Claus and will long retain memories of the happy occasion.

Family Gathering
The hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Briggs of 644 North Broadway presented a pretty scene on Christmas day when members of the family gathered around the festive board for the delectable feast of turkey and all its accessories. Santa Claus and his reindeer occupied the place of honor in the center of the table, the nut cups and other appointments being in vivid red.

Following dinner all of the guests were made gay with the hosts of gifts left by Santa Claus, those present besides the hosts and their daughter Jeanette, being Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dillehunt and son Billy and daughter Cecile Audrey, of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Timmons and little Betty Jane, Mrs. Louisa Potts, daughters Frances and Gertrude and son Clifford.

A joyous feature of the day was brought about by the presence of little Betty Jane Timmons, who is convalescing rapidly from a recent operation.

Guests From Long Beach

Guests from Long Beach and Santa Ana enjoyed the delicious turkey dinner served by Mr. and Mrs. William L. Dugan on Christmas day at their home, 222 South Sycamore street. Those present, besides the host, were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. East, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Kyle and Jane and Hugh Stephen Kyle of Long Beach, old friends of the Dugans and former residents of Santa Ana, Dr. and Mrs. T. J. Haughton and Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe G. Hewitt, daughter Betty and son Richard, Mrs. Hewitt being daughter of the hosts. The table was centered with a beautiful cluster of red roses, smilax and ferns, the nut cups and other appointments being also in red and green hues. Following the feast, a lovely tree yielded many presents for the members of the happy group.

Children Gather Home

Poinsettias and holly made the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Larzelere, 1017 West Bishop street, an especially attractive setting for the Christmas reunion when their children and grandchildren gathered beneath the family roof for a happy day.

An appetizing holiday feast was served at mid-day and the remainder of the day devoted to the usual Christmas celebration. Enjoying the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Larzelere, the parents and hosts, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lalonde and children, Marcella and Norman; Mr. and Mrs. O. Larzelere, Mr. and Mrs. P. Hunt and son, Frank, and Lee and Clarence Larzelere of the home.

Padena Guests
Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Raugh and their sister, Mrs. Maude Miller, 731 South Birch street, had as their Christmas guests, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Martin, son, Verdon, and daughter, Vivian, of Pasadena.

The little family group (for Mrs. Martin is a sister of Dr. Raugh and Mrs. Miller) spent a happy day with the usual Christmas festivities. At the bountiful turkey dinner, a gallantly decorated little tree centered the table and was flanked by poinsettias and ferns, while scarlet and green nut-cups continued the seasonal color effect.

The holiday season was also made cheery by the unexpected visit from Iowa cousins, Mrs. Flora B. Donaldson and her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Flavis Donaldson, of Milford, Ia., who came to California by automobile to spend the remainder of the winter. They made the trip in seven days and are now located in Long Beach from which point they plan to make many interesting sight-seeing trips.

Relatives Entertained

Beginning with the merry interval on Christmas Eve when a great tree was the center of interest, Mr. and Mrs. La Verne Guley and their small son Billy, made Christmas very delightful for relatives and friends at their home on Stanford street.

On Christmas day, a bountiful dinner was served and the afternoon devoted to lively chat and friendliness. Mrs. Guley's parents and brothers, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Summers and Kenneth and Richard Summers, of Placentia, were house-guests, and others bidden to enjoy the celebration were Mr. and Mrs. William C. Watkins, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Guley, William Fletcher Guley, all of this city, and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Riesland of Los Angeles.

At Home Cafe

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Koub of the Home cafe, made Christmas gay for their employees by serving a wonderful Christmas dinner in their honor, and accompanying it with a tree sparkling with lights and laden with gifts for all. The scene was brightened with appropriate decorations and the table where covers were placed for twenty-two diners, presented a very attractive sight with its Christmas appointments. Roast turkey and accompanying delicacies, formed the menu.

Enjoying the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Koub were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Whitten, Mrs. Clara Pevehouse, Miss Ruby Pevehouse, Miss Lucile Shields, Mrs. Mary Hanley, Miss Beth Branche, Mrs. Betty Dohne, Miss Irene Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. W. Williams, Mrs. Morgan, Mrs. Florie Allen, Harold Beckman, Mrs. Velma Kerwitz, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Leary and daughter, Dolores, Mrs. G. Kirby.

McNulty is home for the Christmas holidays, from her teaching duties at Fallbrook.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Dana, 810 Spurgeon street, have returned from San Jose where they spent Christmas with the family of their daughter, Mrs. W. P. Lyon.

W. H. Wilkinson is here from Oceanside spending the holidays with his sons and other relatives. He is employed by the O'Neill company on the Santa Marguerita ranch near Oceanside.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Gerrard, 410 East Fifth street, returned today from El Centro, where they spent Christmas with their son-in-law and daughter, the Rev. and Mrs. William Cheverton. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Cox of 423 South Ross street, who stopped at Banning to visit their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Martin and little son. The quartet left Santa Ana early on Christmas day.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Crasher of 813 Oak street entertained their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Hunter Jackson and son Ernie, of Pasadena, over the Christmas holidays. The guests came on Friday and returned home Sunday.

Christmas guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Q. Townsend of 209 South Broadway who enjoyed Christmas with their son, Leon Townsend, home from Stanford preparatory school, were Mrs. J. Smith and Mrs. Mona Davis of Los Angeles. Mrs. Townsend's mother and sister, who spent the week-end in Santa Ana.

Raymond Dawson and George Decker, who are home from school at Palo Alto to spend the holidays with their parents, are planning to leave for a the north the first of the week.

Miss Carolyn Haughton of 429 South Sycamore street spent the Christmas holidays at Saboba Hot Springs.

BAKED POTATOES

Baking potatoes takes a considerable amount of gas. You can lessen the time required to bake a potato by first boiling it for 15 minutes and then placing it in the oven to bake.

Christmas Luncheon Is Enjoyed by Members Of Bridge Club

When Mrs. William E. Otis entertained the members of the afternoon bridge club to which she belongs, she made her hospitality highly significant of the season by presiding at a Christmas feast in the private dining-room at St. Ann's Inn, and later having a most holiday-like session of bridge in her beautiful home at 1330 North Main street.

After the hostess had greeted her guests in the foyer of the Inn where the tinsel-trimmed tree accented the seasonal gaiety, all were directed to the private dining room where one wide table was arranged in delightfully gay attire. Christmas bells rang from the cards by which places were sought, and Christmas poinsettias nodded above the bright green nut-cups, while the entire decorative scheme was eloquent of the season. The menu too was appropriate from fruit cocktail and creamed lobster through the courses of roast turkey, California vegetables, salads and sweets.

The occasion was made especially happy by the presence of Mrs. C. A. Vance whose long illness has been so regretted by her friends, and whose return to health gives them all added Yuletide joy. Her presence made the little group of close friends complete for the first time in many weeks, and sharing the hospitality of Mrs. Otis were Mrs. Vance, Mrs. John P. Baumgartner, Mrs. John E. Gowen, Mrs. James E. Paul, Mrs. Irwin F. Landis, Mrs. Roy Hall, Mrs. A. M. Gardner, Mrs. Edward M. Nealley, Mrs. Wyckoff Hoxie, Mrs. Terry E. Stephenson, Mrs. E. E. Keech, Mrs. J. E. Liebig and Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh.

All enjoyed the session of bridge in the home of their hostess, and congratulated Mrs. John E. Gowen upon the high score which gained for her a great box of choice bonbons to add to her supply of Christmas sweets.

The club, which has been in existence for a number of years, anticipates some delightful meetings in 1927, the first of which will be at Santa Ana Country club on Tuesday, January 11, when Mrs. Irwin F. Landis will entertain.

Girl Is Hurt In Auto Collision

Frances Donovan, 27, North Cleveland street, Orange, received medical treatment in the Santa Ana Valley hospital Monday night for injuries received when the automobile, which she was driving, collided with a machine driven by Irene E. Sizerman, 26, 709 East Chestnut street, Santa Ana, at Main and Chestnut streets, according to a report filed last yesterday with city police. Miss Donovan's neck was cut. She was removed to her home following hospital treatment and is not thought to be seriously hurt.

No arrests were made.

Former Football Coach At S. A. High School Weds in Calexico

Of keen interest to hosts of Santa Ana friends, were the announcements received yesterday of the wedding in Calexico on Monday, December 27, of Edward B. Covington jr., and Miss Dorothy Alice Glenn, niece of Mr. and Mrs. John Franklin Steintorf.

Mr. Covington's friends scent romance behind the engraved cards, which formed the first intimation here that the popular former football coach at Santa Ana high school had succumbed to Dan Cupid's marksmanship.

He is now on his second successive year as coach at Calexico high school where he was also connected with the high school staff prior to his serving Santa Ana high school during 1923 and 1924. He is the son of Judge and Mrs. E. B. Covington, formerly of this city and now of Glendale, and is the grandson of Mrs. Sallie Bird of 828 North Broadway and a nephew of the P. H. Covington family, 219 South Birch street. He is a graduate of the local high school and of Pomona college, and has hosts of friends in this city and in collegiate circles whose congratulations and good wishes will follow him into his new life.

THE TINYMITES
BY HAL COCHRAN

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The little fish that Clowny caught up to a big bonfire brought, and all the Tines gathered round to watch him scale the thing. His pocket knife was put in play and scales went flying every way. Then Clowny said, "A lot of wood is what you all can bring."

That task, of course, was not so much and soon a pile of twigs and such was stacked up by the bonfire so's to keep the place ablaze. The fish was very soft to fix, and Clowny picked up two long sticks just like the kind with which a tomboy plays.

He spread another stick across and then he started out to boss. "I'll do the fancy cooking, and the rest of you can eat." "Hurray!" the others shouted loud. "We're sure that we will all feel proud if you can cook that little fish into a dandy treat."

They settled down around the blaze as Clowny said, "Of all the ways to cook a fish, I rather like this campfire way the best." He then produced a piece of string, tied fishy's tail and gave a sling across the limb above the fire, surprising all the rest.

The little fish was hanging down in heat that rose up from the ground, and shortly came an odor that they all said smelled real good. The flames began to die away and Clowny shouted, "The rest of you get busy now and put on some more wood."

Then after half an hour of fun, the fish was cooked and nicely done. Then Clowny gently took it down and said, "It smells real sweet." He gave each Tinymite his share. They all said "Thanks," and then and there, they all showed they were hungry as they started in to eat.

BLEACHING THE ARMS

No matter how dusky a brunette a woman may be, she has one ideal in mind—white arms. She may be proud of her dark skin and use the deepest shade of Rachel powder she can buy, and accentuate the olive tints by dark red rouge, and bring her black hair well over her face—nevertheless, when she goes with sleeveless dresses, she'll want her arms as white as possible.

Well, here's one way to achieve that. After the arms have been well scrubbed with soap and warm water and rinsed, cover them with a thin paste made of laundry starch and water. This dries on, and it should be left on as long as possible—half an hour at least. While drying, it should be rubbed into the skin with the hands.

It isn't a convenient treatment—though, of course, you can cold cream your face, or manicure your nails, or tidy up your room, or do odd jobs of the sort while the starch is drying, if you can go with bare arms—naturally, sleeves would rub off the starch. But it's a valuable one, for starch is bleaching and refining. It's particularly good if the arms are covered with little red or white marks—goose flesh, my correspondent calls these blemishes. They are a sort of pimple, they are waste matter hardened into the pores. Rubbing the starch in, which will wash off, or scrubbing the arms very thoroughly every day with hot water and a mild soap, will also get rid of them.

If the starch dries out the skin too much, rub with an almond oil emulsion, or any good hand lotion. Cold cream is too greasy for the arms, it would stain the clothing. But some quick drying, nourishing hand cream is exactly what you want. This starch treatment can be given every other day. It is particularly effective in the summer time to bleach off tan and freckles.

Use Powdered Starch For This

And it can't be called an expensive treatment; a pound of laundry starch will last you all winter.

FAREWELL FOR AN AFTER-DINNER SPEAKER

Here he lies, now calm and still!
Gone to claim eternal glory!
Never more on earth he will Shake the tables with a story.

This is sleep men cannot break,
He has gone where no mail reaches,
Him the telephone can't wake,
He is done with making speeches.

Shed no tear! Display no grief!
Rather let your pulses quicken,

He is done with larded beef!
Done with guinea hen and chicken!

Here he lies, his peace secure,
All the noise of earth is quitted,
Where he's gone to, I am sure
No toastmaster is admitted.

Never more we'll hear the jest
As so cleverly he turned it,
Now this weary man has rest,
And the good Lord knows he earned it.

MENUS for the FAMILY

By SISTER MARY

BREAKFAST—Orange juice, cereal, thin cream, crisp broiled bacon, apple and corn meal pone, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Cream of pea soup, toasted crackers, egg salad, sandwiches, pineapple bavarian cream, cocoa.

DINNER—Pan-broiled lamb chops, twice baked potatoes, creamed carrots, orange and stuffed celery salad, bran rolls, mince pie, milk, coffee.

Sometimes we find oranges distinctly tart. If this fruit must be used for breakfast it can be made quite acceptable by the simple addition of sugar or water.

Apple and Corn Meal Pone
Two cups corn meal, 2 cups boiling water, 2 eggs, 3 tablespoons baking powder, 2 tablespoons butter, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 2 cups chopped apples, 2 tablespoons molasses.

Put corn meal into mixing bowl, add boiling water, stirring to prevent lumping. Beat smooth and cover bowl with a cloth. When cold, add eggs well beaten, butter melted, and beat hard for several minutes. Add remaining ingredients and mix thoroughly. Pour into a well-buttered dripping pan and bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes. Cut in squares and serve warm with butter.

TOO MUCH COAL
The fire-pot of your furnace should never be heaped to the top. Keep the coal on the line of the fire brick. A large amount of coal in the furnace does not necessarily mean a better fire.

TARE POTTERY OF SOUTHWEST IS RECOVERED

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., Dec. 29.—The spade of the archaeologist has brought to light from among the pine trees near Flagstaff, beautifully envired Eiden Pueblo, the walls of which have been hidden for centuries under low mounds of stone and earth. This name was selected by Dr. Fewkes because of its proximity to Eiden mountain.

From the cemetery of Eiden Pueblo, Dr. J. Walker Fewkes, chief of the bureau of American ethnology of the Smithsonian institution, has recovered a remarkable collection of prehistoric pottery. It includes 300 perfect vessels and fragments which can be repaired of as many more.

The pottery includes cooking utensils, seed jars, dippers, ladles, food bowls and some very unusual animal effigies. The most striking effigy figure the Hopi identified as representing an antelope. This elaborately decorated effigy bowl found with a skeleton would indicate that the burial was that of a priest and that the bowl was a sacred one.

The pueblo whose inhabitants made this pottery was a metropolis of the southwest centuries before the coming of the white men. When Dr. Fewkes undertook his excavation last May, the site gave little promise of a buried building, but as the result of a summer's work it now stands out as a rectangular inclosure measuring 145 by 125 feet and containing 40 or more chambers. In its original state it rose two stories, but the roofs and floors of the upper stories have long since fallen in and the highest section of the wall still standing measures only eight feet from the base.

The outer wall is solid without windows or doors. To enter his house the Eiden Pueblo dweller had to climb the wall by ladders and through a hatchway descend to the low story. These blank outer walls were undoubtedly a protective arrangement to keep out enemies and when besieged the inhabitants defended themselves from the roofs with rude weapons.

The pueblo contains one large room about 32 feet square, with rounded corners. A raised banquet on the inner wall was probably designed for seats. There is a fireplace in the center and on one side a ventilator for supplying fresh air. This was undoubtedly the ceremonial room of the pueblo, corresponding to the kiva of the ordinary southwestern ruin.

What people were they who built and lived in this metropolis so many centuries ago? The masonry is very crude and indicates the early stages of pueblo building. The pottery is predominantly white with black geometric designs in the interior—a form typical of the old Hopi. There still exist vague legends among the Hopi Indians indicating that Eiden Pueblo was one of the homes of their ancestors. It is probable, therefore, that the pueblo was built by one of the groups or ancestral clans of the modern composite Hopi Indians.

When the pueblo was inhabited—why abandoned—whether because enemies stole the crops or because the water supply gave out or for some other reason—are facts which can only be roughly conjectured.

Dr. Fewkes reinforced the adobe used as concrete by the builders with Portland cement and took all other possible steps to protect the pueblo walls from the elements in order that they may continue to reveal some thing of the life of prehistoric Americans to the modern tourist.

FLAPPERS FAVOR LONGER TRESSES

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—"Why can't the grandmas who are trying to kid themselves into being flappers be sweet and demure without trying to steal our stuff. Affairs have reached the stage that the only way for girls to retain their identity is to go back and be old-fashioned."

This is the tenor of interviews with several girls on the rumor that bobbed hair is passe, and that girls are letting their tresses grow—not too long—but long enough to "do up."

Girls in the eastern seminaries really started the back-to-long-hair movement. The cycle in which styles run has sounded the doom of the shingle bob, according to the girls interviewed. "Five years is the limit for any one fad," they agreed, "and it's long hair from now on. We are glad the men are to have their chance in the barber shops once more. Too many men think girls are trying to be masculine."

Meanwhile the only institution in the city unravaged by the bobbed hair fad is the Moody Bible Institute, where the girls let their tresses grow long. Of more than 600 girl students there, not more than 20 have bobbed hair and they are letting it grow.

'Naughty' Book Tangle Patched

PARIS, Dec. 29.—A satisfactory understanding has been reached between Frank Harris and the French government which a few weeks ago threatened him with a criminal suit for "outraging public morals." This was when the second volume of "My Life and Loves" was sold in Nice. The book has now been withdrawn from sale in France and all prosecution has been dropped.

The passage to which objection was made, it is said, dealt with private conversations with notable Englishmen, living and dead.

At the time of the original investigation, it was reported that the British embassy in Paris had asked the French government to investigate the matter.

Queer Quirks of NATURE

PELICAN IS SOCIABLE FELLOW

Baby Pelicans

BY ARTHUR N. PACK
President, American Nature Assn.

Around the pelican has been woven the tale of the mother bird feeding her starving nestlings on the blood pecked from her own breast. There is no foundation for this story. It would be difficult to figure out just how she would go about it, for her beak wouldn't appear to be adapted for such a performance.

In fact, with the feeding of the young, parental care seems to cease. Birds will go long distances for food for their young, but the brown pelican will not even feed its nestlings which have fallen from the nest, but leaves them to perish.

The white pelican is one of our largest water fowls, weighing, when full grown, about 17 pounds. It is a decidedly gregarious bird, very sociable, in fact a regular fellow.

They fish in squads; exercise in groups; nest in colonies, and people who have studied them in their native haunts say that when one pelican yawns every other bird in sight yawns lazily and ludicrously. The pelican and gull are the only birds who indulge in genuine yawns.

The feature of the white pelican is its pouch under the lower mandible. It will hold a gallon of water.

When a pelican sights a school of minnows it gives the pelican call, inviting its friends to the feast. Then a line of pelicans form and forces the minnows towards the bank of the stream. With their beaks open and only the upper mandible above water, they advance on the fish.

After a pelican has filled its pouch it rises from the water, allows the water to run out of its loosely-closed beak and then proceeds to swallow the catch. Hundreds of small fish have been found in the crops of these strange birds, proving the effectiveness of their peculiar fishing apparatus.

Lazy gulls hover around the pelicans, knowing that in ejecting the water from their beaks a minnow or so may escape, and are ready to snap them up. Sometimes growing impatient and seeing a fin protruding from the pelican's beak, a gull will light on the poor pelican's beak, grab the fin, and after a short tussle, the pelican usually lets go and the gull is the victor.

NEWS FROM ORANGE COUNTY TOWNS

FULLERTON TO SHIP 40 CARS NAVEL ORANGES

FULLERTON, Dec. 29.—About 40 cars of navel oranges will be shipped from Fullerton this week, according to a statement given out today by Dale King, manager of the Northern Orange County Citrus exchange.

ORANGE BOARD TO DISCUSS VACANCY

ORANGE, Dec. 29.—Candidates for the trustee office held by Al Leech, who resigned last week, will be discussed at an informal meeting of the board of trustees this evening, it was learned this morning.

No action will be taken, however, until next Tuesday, when the board meets in regular session, it was said.

If the board cannot decide upon an acceptable candidate at its informal meeting tonight or at its regular meeting Tuesday, it appears that a special election for the purpose of choosing a trustee to fill the unexpired term is necessary.

Under the law, municipal governing bodies must select a successor to a member resigned within 30 days of the acceptance of the resignation or submit the selection to the people for vote.

If the trustees do not select Leech's successor next Tuesday, then half the time allowed them to make the selection will have elapsed.

It is reported that perhaps a dozen names will be considered by the board tonight.

SAYS CHINESE DOUBT POWERS' BENEVOLENCE

ANAHEIM, Dec. 29.—Picturing China as a seething mass of humanity whose force for good or evil now hangs in the balance, C. H. Robertson, for 20 years a Y. M. C. A. secretary in the Orient, last evening addressed 200 members of the White Temple Forum club at a banquet meeting held in the social hall of the church.

The speaker declared that Russian communism is making a strong bid for the support of China's 400,000,000 people, who, he said, are beginning to doubt the benevolence of the western powers.

Warren Ashleigh, club president, presided. Other numbers on the program included baritone solos by Percy W. Olds, accompanied by Mrs. Olds; violin solo by Allen Rains, accompanied by Miss Marjorie Rains; readings by Mrs. Fay Green Schulz; novelty musical numbers by Eddie Jones, accompanied at the piano by Miss D. Kenworthy, both of Santa Ana.

The speaker declared that Americans get their impression of China from the few coolies who come here from the southern provinces.

"I expect to see a greater sense of Christian ethics come out of China than is known here in the western hemisphere," he said. "Christianity has taken a strong hold on educators and leaders in China. Many have accepted its teachings and the government has altered its rulings to permit of religious freedom among students."

Mr. Robertson is in Anaheim visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Robertson, of Burton avenue. He expects to return to China after a few more weeks' visit on the Pacific coast.

TIDELANDS ARE ANNEXED BY VOTERS AT NEWPORT BEACH; 130 PERSONS CAST BALLOTS

NEWPORT BEACH, Dec. 29.—The city of Newport Beach annexed a small portion of bay frontage near the western line of Corona Del Mar yesterday at a special election.

The election, carried by a large majority, although the total was one of the smallest in the history of the town. The vote showed 128 persons favoring annexation and two against the measure. There are about 1200 voters in the city.

The piece annexed to the city extends from the center of the inner channel at the eastern end of the bay to the bluff along Corona Del Mar, and by annexing the small portion of water and land, the city has straightened out its boundary lines so that the entire lower bay now is in the city of Newport Beach.

The annexation will also simplify matters for the city in the tidelands suits which will soon be launched by city attorney Clyde Bishop. Bishop has petitioned the state legislature to grant to the city of Newport Beach all tidelands within the city limits. Before the election yesterday a small strip of bay frontage along Corona Del Mar was outside of the city limits.

The entire city voted on the proposed annexation. The area annexed is uninhabited.

WHITSON NAMED TO BALBOA P. O.

BALBOA, Dec. 29.—E. B. "Dick" Whitson has been named postmaster at Balboa. For the past several months Whitson has been acting postmaster.

Whitson was recommended to the office by Congressman Phil Swing. Figures given out recently revealed a growth of approximately 25 per cent during the past few months.

Completion of the well ends a long and hard fought campaign to successfully test out the deep zone in this district. The hole is 4330 feet deep and the oil said to be of good quality estimated to run 25 degrees gravity. Gas output is expected to reach 2,000,000 cubic feet per day.

The Merchants Petroleum company originally drilled the well, known then as the E. Walter Payne No. 1, completing it in 1921 at a top sand producer. It produced for three years when decision was made to deepen it. The Merchants has six other wells on the lease, all top sand producers.

Last spring arrangements were made with the Continental Oil company to deepen the hole. The work was finished and the well ready to bring in about six weeks ago, when the under reamer dropped into the hole, necessitating a prolonged fishing job.

The Merchants lease is on the east side of Van Buren street and immediately north of Atwood, the new producer being approximately two blocks from the Santa Fe depot. Plans are now being made for drilling another well on the property.

The Delaney company has taken over a lease formerly held by Crapton and Dunlap, as well as a lease on the six and a half acre D. Soderbert ranch, which runs through to Richfield road.

ATWOOD WELL REVIVES FLAT LAND INTEREST

ATWOOD, Dec. 29.—Success of the Continental Oil company's Merchants No. 1 well, which was capped Wednesday in the deep zone with a flow that is now estimated at 2000 barrels per day, has awakened new interest in the flat lands of the Richfield district and extended operations in this vicinity south and east from the formerly accepted "deadline."

Officials and scouts who have visited the well since it was brought in have declared it to be the best well in Orange county outside of the recent gushers at Seal Beach.

Completion of the well ends a long and hard fought campaign to successfully test out the deep zone in this district. The hole is 4330 feet deep and the oil said to be of good quality estimated to run 25 degrees gravity. Gas output is expected to reach 2,000,000 cubic feet per day.

SANTA ANA IN 1914 REVOLT IN NICARAGUA

Leland C. Barnard, 1107 West Sixth street, employee of the Smart and Final company, has been watching the dispatches from Nicaragua recently with a great deal of interest, inasmuch as he was in that country much of the time between March 18, 1914, and April 8, 1917, when war with Germany was declared.

Barnard was a member of the crew of the U. S. S. Denver, an armored cruiser, which frequently landed sailors and marines to provide a legion guard at Managua, the capital of the Central American republic, during revolutions. "The present revolution, from what I have been able to learn from the newspapers, is a great deal like the previous disturbances down there," Barnard said. "The 'ins' are trying to stay in and the 'outs' are trying to get in. The trouble usually starts in December, every two years, just before the general election. All that is needed to start a first class local war is an election or an inauguration."

Barnard is very proud of a log book he kept while a member of the Denver's crew and finds a great deal of pleasure in looking over the pictures and reading the notes, in view of the recent disturbances in Nicaragua.

THREE WIVES ASK DIVORCE DECREES

"Other women" interfered with the marital happiness of two Orange county wives, who today appeared to superior court for divorce from allegedly faithless husbands.

Mrs. Thelma Skinner sued Donald L. Skinner, demanding custody of their little daughter and "reasonable support." The Skinners were married at Anaheim, in 1924, and separated there, last May 27. Attorney S. B. Kaufman, Santa Ana, represents Mrs. Skinner, who claims that her husband preferred the society of other women to a seat by the home fire.

Similar accusations were made against Ed Maxwell by his wife, Julia Maxwell, whose suit was filed through Attorneys Mozley and Burns, of Santa Ana. The Maxwells were married in Los Angeles, in 1918, and separated in 1925. They have three children.

Mrs. Margery Vreeland, also represented by the firm of Mozley and Burns, charged desertion and intemperance in a divorce suit filed against Walter R. Vreeland. They were married in Clifton, Ariz., in 1919, and separated in 1922.

WINTERSBURG

WINTERSBURG, Dec. 29.—The Wintersburg social hall was the scene of an interesting event on Christmas day, when the family of Mrs. Mary E. Clemens held a family reunion with 40 persons present. Following the dinner, the honoree, Mrs. Mary E. Clemens, who has just returned from Stockton to make Wintersburg her home once more after an absence of several years, was the recipient of a number of nice gifts.

In the family group were Mrs. Mary E. Clemens, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McGuire, Mrs. Sim Teneyck and children, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gothard and family, of this place, Mr. and Mrs. George Gano and family of Fullerton; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Maddux, of Anaheim; Mr. and Mrs. John Clemens and baby of Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Carol King, of Huntington Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Donald McMillan and family, of Smelter; Mrs. Belle Clemens and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin McGuire, of Santa Ana.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Fox were hosts at Christmas dinner, their guests being Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Daniels and sons, Vernon and Kenneth, and Mrs. Fracker, of Pomona; Mr. and Mrs. Claude Wilson, of Los Angeles, and C. C. Dear-dorf and daughter, Miss Carla Deardorf, of Riverside. Miss Carla Deardorf remained at the Fox home and will enter the Huntington Beach high school with the opening of the school Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Huff, brother and sister-in-law of Mrs. E. M. Fox, and their daughter, Miss Ruth, were Sunday guests in the Fox home Hollywood.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Noble and family left Wintersburg Thursday for Madero county, where they will make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Sim Teneyck and her mother, Mrs. Mary E. Clemens, spent Sunday at Huntington Beach as the guests of Mrs. Teneyck's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Carol King.

Robert Teneyck, who has been visiting his father at San Juan Capistrano, returned home in time for Christmas, but it was impossible for Mr. Teneyck to join his family at that time. Mr. Teneyck is employed on road construction in the Capistrano section.

Teachers and officers of the Wintersburg Methodist Sunday school are talking over plans for attending the school of methods, which will convene for Sunday school workers in Santa Ana the coming week, and which will be held each evening until Friday from 7:30 o'clock until 9:45 o'clock.

Prof. and Mrs. R. A. Shostag and family spent Christmas day in Santa Ana at the home of Mrs. Shostag's mother.

Mr. and Mrs. David Russell were hosts at Christmas dinner at which Mrs. Russell's two brothers-in-law and sisters, Mr. and Mrs. Hurst and Mr. and Mrs. Ellis, of Wintersburg, were guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Steck had as Sunday callers in their home, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Wulburn and granddaughter and Mr. and Mrs. Aleck Rhine, of Long Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Southerland and three children, of Sawtelle, were Sunday visitors at the Otis Skinner home.

Mr. and Mrs. Obie Martin, of Calexico, arrived Friday to visit relatives over the holidays. They visited Mrs. Martin's two sisters, Mrs. O. Kanawyer and Mrs. Violet Beard, and Mr. Martin's people at Westminster.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Rainer, of Escondido, arrived to spend the holiday season with relatives here and Mrs. Rainer is remaining over for a couple of weeks.

E. Southerland spent from Friday evening over Christmas day at Sawtelle with his brother, Charles Southerland.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Stefanzi, who for a number of years were Wintersburg residents, and who have for the past year been at Clearwater, are returning to their Wintersburg residence, and who have anzil has sold his store at Clearwater. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Letson, who occupy the Stefanzi home, will move to their own residence.

Charles Fruta, local Japanese business man, is remodeling one of his houses this week and is having painting done on several.

Mr. and Mrs. Guerdner Nichols entertained as house guests in their home Friday and Saturday, Mrs. Nichols' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Slack, of Los Angeles, and on Christmas day were hosts to a party of relatives, who included Mr. and Mrs. George Nichols and Miss Zetta Nichols, of this place, and the hostess' uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Worth, of Santa Ana.

Mr. and Mrs. Schutes, of the Blacklock tract, entertained a party of friends in their home on Christmas day.

John Melton and mother, of Wilmington, were Sunday afternoon callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Elaylock.

Several members of the George Gothard family gathered at the home for Christmas dinner and a company of 11 sat down to a fine turkey dinner.

Included in the party were the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. George Gothard; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Powell and two children, of Colton; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Buchanan, of Los Angeles; and Mrs. Buchanan's sister, Miss Blanche Buchanan, of the same city; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ver-voren, of Springdale, and Edwin Gothard.

Mr. and Mrs. Powe and children plan on taking up their residence in this section soon and they will be with relatives here for two weeks before they return to Colton to arrange for the change.

BALBOA

BALBOA, Dec. 29.—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Eastlack, of this city, were hosts to a large number of friends at an old fashioned buffet dinner Christmas day.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rodger entertained at a family dinner Christmas day. More than 20 members of the family were present.

CHECK ARTIST IS REMOVED TO PENITENTIARY

The long fight to keep Sherman Moore, Compton ex-soldier, from San Quentin prison, where he was sentenced on a charge of passing worthless checks, came to an end yesterday afternoon, when Moore was taken north by Joe Scott, deputy sheriff. He will arrive at the state's penitentiary today.

Moore was arrested between Newport Beach and Huntington Beach, several months ago, after he is alleged to have passed several fictitious checks in Laguna Beach. Merchandise found in his machine at the time of arrest was alleged to have been purchased with "no funds" checks.

It was brought out at his trial that he had been arrested on numerous occasions in the last several years for passing checks, in Los Angeles, La Habra, San Pedro, Riverside, Orange and a number of other cities.

His defense was insanity and it was shown that he had been in the Compton sanitarium. Following his conviction on the check charges, the man was given a sanity hearing and a jury returned a verdict that Moore was sane.

Moore's term in San Quentin was set at from one to 14 years.

Road Commission Chairman Quits

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 29.—Gov. Friend W. Richardson has received from Harvey M. Toy, chairman of the state highway commission, his resignation, to take effect January 3.

"Your first official act as governor was my appointment on the highway commission," said Toy, "and I desire the last act of your administration to be the acceptance of my resignation."

Toy will accompany the governor on his trip around the world. Governor Richardson expressed his appreciation of the work of Commissioner Toy and said the resignation would be accepted as requested.

DO YOU REMEMBER THE DAIRY FARM OF TWENTY YEARS AGO?

TWENTY years ago there were no huge fleets of trucks such as the Crescent Creamery uses to rush the milk from the producing dairies to the pasteurizing plants.

Twenty years ago there was little or no automatic machinery such as the Crescent Creamery uses to insure that the milk comes to you properly safeguarded and in clean, sterile bottles.

Twenty years ago there were no technical laboratories such as that maintained by the Crescent Creamery to insure that the highest standard of richness and food value is maintained.

These have been years of earnest effort, careful planning, and unremitting labor to give the people of Southern California the best at the least cost.

...and the Crescent Creamery Company is still pioneering the way...still holding the ideal.

DON'T TAKE any chances with an obsolete type of gas heater. Many deaths occur each winter from the poisonous fumes thrown off by heaters of imperfect combustion.

IN OUR corner window is displayed a mantel and heater showing how artistically one may be made to fit into the general scheme of decoration.

No Danger of Fumes or Gases with KENNEDY "Sheet Flame" GAS HEATERS

The Kennedy is the Only Solid Sheetflame Radiant Heater—A Distinction Worth Noting and Remembering

In the Kennedy Sheetflame Radiant Heater, the solid sheet of flame extends across the entire heating surface. No other radiant gas heater employs this principle. It is exclusive with the Kennedy Heater.

One unified sheet of flame, it stands to reason, must be more efficient than separate pillars or jets of flame. Simple demonstration of the Kennedy Heater always proves this to be so.

"The Solid Sheet Throws Out More Heat" is more than a slogan or catch phrase; it is a different and more highly energized principle of heating efficiency—the Kennedy idea.

The Solid Sheetflame, by playing freely against the Kennedy Glowers, utilizes every square inch of the radiating surface. Exhaustive tests show that the Kennedy Heater distributes more heat from its total radiating surface than any other heater.

Besides being more efficient from the heating standpoint, Kennedy Sheetflame Radiant Heaters are attractive in design. They will grace any room in your home—make it more livable and enjoyable as well as warmer and more comfortable.

It's Easy to Choose from Our Large Selection

IN ADDITION to the famous Kennedy Heater we are displaying two other standard makes of radiant heaters in every size from bedroom and bathroom type up to the largest fireplace heaters. Prices range from $9.75 up to $150.

'Rain,' Famous Stage Drama, at Yost Tomorrow

The management of the Yost theater has prepared a treat for amusement lovers of this city in the presentation here tomorrow night of "Rain," the dramatic dynamo of the decade.

Sadie Thompson, the heroine, is described as one of the most thrilling figures ever known in the theater. As portrayed by Isabel Withers, the star, she is said to be great. The acting alone in this play comes with the reputation of being worthy of the highest praise, and the theme of the story is one that cannot easily be forgotten.

Miss Withers made an emphatic hit in the leading role of "Love 'Em and Leave 'Em." Heading the cast supporting her are Harold Salter and Howard Nugent. The South Seas atmosphere of the play gives opportunity for lavish and colorful scenic effects.

YOST BROADWAY THEATER
Another great stage success has been turned into a moving picture of exceptional appeal. "Forever After," which was filmed from Owen Davis' play of the same name, opens at the Yost Broadway theater tonight.

Chock full of vivid action in scenes of childhood games, football clashes and the even more thrilling combats of French battlefields, the picture is woven around a tender love affair between the son of an impoverished lawyer and the gentle daughter of a New England plutocrat.

Mary Astor has taken the role of Alice Brady, made famous on the stage, and leavened it with a charm and beauty which, aided by the limitless range of the camera, makes an even more intriguing character on the screen.

Lloyd Hughes makes a fresh, attractive hero who plunges through life with the same gay abandon in football games and hand-to-hand engagements in No Man's Land that marked his daring as a boy in the little New England town.

'BLONDES' PLAY IS HEARTILY RECEIVED

Santa Ana Audience Enjoys Footlight Version of Anita Loos Comedy

BY REVIEWER

Following quite literally the satiric and humorous incidents in the life of a typical New York "gold-digger" as depicted in Anita Loos' best seller, "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" was presented before a sparse but appreciative audience at the Yost theater here last night.

Episodes were brought together and periods of time were telescoped for stage purposes but the main outline of the plot was clearly and distinctly maintained.

Santa Ana, in years past, was one of the foremost patrons of legitimate stage attractions but motion pictures seem to have usurped this honor as only a shell of an old-time audience, far too few considering the class of the play, witnessed the unfolding of the clever comedy at the Spurgeon street showhouse. The first act was a bore but the play perked up considerably thereafter.

The blonde, Lorelei Lee, whom gentlemen seem to prefer, if diamond tiaras and other gifts are to be taken as an indication, was played by Joan Marion, petite and pretty. The unrefined Dorothy Shaw, Lorelei's girl friend and traveling companion, was depicted to perfection by Mary Ricard, black-eyed and snappy.

William Courteen, as the stiff-necked reformer and film censor, who just loved to take the censored parts of films and stick them together and run them over and over, left nothing to be desired. That veteran actor, Herbert Standing, as the titled Englishman, from whom Lorelei obtains the necessary $5000 to purchase from his wife her diamond tiara, again proved himself a capital portrayal of English roles. Jay Reed, as Gus Eisman, the button king, who sent Lorelei abroad to be "educated," was pronounced near perfection in his part.

Two comedy roles of the French attorneys were made side-splittingly ludicrous by the interpretations of Edouard La Roche and Martin Wolfson. Lois Arnold, as Mrs. Spoffard, became exceedingly funny after she had imbibed freely of "sunshine." Ada Sinclair hit her part as Lady Beekman well and Josephine Morse had an unsympathetic but a humorous role in Miss Chapman.

MURPHY'S COMEDIANS

"The Only Road," a religious comedy-drama in three acts and with two complete changes of stage settings, written by Charles F. Harrison, is playing all this week at Murphy's theater at Orana.

The play this week is very well cast and includes C. Wm. Boothe and Monda Lee Murphy in the leading parts; Herbert M. Shelley in the principal comedy part; Jimmie Malone and Marion Sutherland in the juvenile leads, and George Mathison, Austa Pierce, James Worsley and K. Louise Hathaway in character parts. The parts are all good ones and exceptionally well played.

YOST THEATER

When Johnny Hines pressed two dozen Broadway chorus beauties into service for his latest picture, "Stepping Along," which comes tonight to the Yost theater, Le little suspected that he had twenty-four young women in his picture that were intent on having a movie career.

The girls are all members of the famous "black bottom" dance chorus that surrounds Ann Pennington in her sensational number of George White's "Scandals," and in the filming of the comedy they repeated this number before a battery of cameras on the stage of the Selwyn theater.

Exclusive Crosley. Gerwing's.

"Newcom sells good wood."

WALKER THEATER

Good news! Douglas Fairbanks opens at the Walker theater today in "The Black Pirate."

This picture, a new Fairbanks super-production, is laid in that part of the southern seas known in the seventeenth century as the Pirate's Main, where Morgan and his blood-thirsty rovers had their secret island, on which they hid the tribute exacted at guns' points from traders and travelers.

It is said that Fairbanks has never before had such a fitting vehicle for his blithe sort of adventuring. He plays the part of a young nobleman, who swears to avenge the killing of his father by pirates. This he does in a series of exciting episodes, that demand every known variety of dueling, fighting, and daredevil cleverness. He captures a big ship single-handed, steals the heroine from the villains, and fights his way through the ranks of the cut-throats.

"The Black Pirate" is rated the fastest moving story Fairbanks ever made, and this is a promise of considerable speed. Starting with the blowing up of a ship and maintaining an explosive tempo throughout, this picture should afford all the interest and suspense forecast for it.

Fairbanks' production is the first picture of such magnitude to be made in color, and marks an entirely new departure in this regard through its elimination of all glaring hues. It is claimed that he has succeeded in incorporating color into this film in such a bewitching fashion that the spectator is completely charmed by it, and sees it only as one sees a panorama in real life.

of the First United Presbyterian church of Los Angeles, speaking for the presbytery. Two letters were read, one from the Rev. E. F. Kimmelschue, who was pastor of the Santa Ana church for nine months in 1903. He now is living in Xenia, O., and the other from Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Russell, missionaries in Addis Ababa, Abyssinia. The first letter was read by Mrs. W. W. Hoy and the second by Miss Grace Smiley.

Miss McFadden Speaks
Briefly and interestingly, Miss Mabel McFadden outlined some of the incidents of church life, for which room was not found in the golden anniversary booklet, published as a part of the fiftieth anniversary celebration. Miss McFadden is the "golden anniversary historian."

Col. S. H. Finley, whose father moved to Santa Ana, in 1878, largely because of the fact that there was a United Presbyterian church here; Mrs. Janet Smart Thomson, of Los Angeles, who reviewed incidents of girlhood days in the church; Mrs. J. G. Kennedy, wife of a former pastor, who related some of the events cherished in memory, and Arthur J. McFadden, who detailed stories of outdoor experiences under the leadership of the Rev. Mr. Kilpatrick, who was a "boy scout" leader before there was such a thing as a Boy Scout organization, were other speakers.

The notable gathering closed with a message and prayer by the Rev. Mr. Kennedy, by the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" and by a benediction by the Rev. Mr. Kilpatrick.

MINIMIZING OF GRID GAME IN COLLEGE URGED

Athletic Directors Asked To Ban Freshmen Tilts, Publish Scholarships

By PAUL W. WHITE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—Coincident with the discussion of possible technical changes in football, coaches and athletic directors of leading universities, now meeting here, are faced with suggestions to minimize the importance of football in collegiate life. Whether the sport is commercialized is a question sharing unwilling attention with such problems as whether the huddle and shift plays should be eliminated.

Dr. Jesse F. Williams, professor of physical education at Teachers' college, Columbia university, chairman of a special committee, has made recommendations to the society of directors of physical education which include:

That coaches be made members of faculties;

That college presidents and their administrative staffs be given complete control of athletics;

That athletics be conducted strictly according to a prepared budget;

That intercollegiate contests between freshmen be prohibited;

That all scholarships to athletes be made public;

That varsity participation be limited to juniors and seniors.

Dr. Williams said he believed, however, that the college game had not been swayed extensively by professionalism. His recommendations for the most part, he explained, were prompted by the desire to have more and more students engage in varsity play.

The committee headed by Dr. Williams found that 14 worthy objectives, such as team play, clean living, discipline and hard work were gained by football players.

The meeting today of the American Football Coaches' association probably will discuss the new shift rule, which would necessitate a second stop on all plays in which a player or players move from one position to another.

Lenglen Winner Over Browne In Pro Net Match

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29.—Suzanne Lenglen, brilliant French net star, defeated Mary K. Browne in straight sets, 6-0, 6-1, in the feature attraction of the professional indoor tennis exhibition at the Olympic auditorium here last night. Eight thousand spectators witnessed the matches.

Suzanne had little trouble disposing of Miss Browne but later paired with Paul Feret, a countryman, lost to Miss Browne and Harvey Snodgrass.

"DUTCH" LEONARD DENIES HE RECEIVED PAY FOR LETTERS; SAYS "INCIDENT" IS CLOSED

FRESNO, Calif., Dec. 29.—Hubert "Dutch" Leonard, former major league pitcher, indicated today he believes his three page statement on the baseball scandal which involves Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker, Joe Wood and himself, will close an "incident" made public by K. M. Landis, baseball commissioner, in a 50 page report.

"As I said in my statement, I feel now the entire occurrence is a closed incident," Leonard said today.

In his "first and last" statement, Leonard charged that "baseball authorities" had told him he could surrender certain letters to strengthen information already in their possession without creating publicity.

He denied he sold these letters, which are considered the most incriminating evidence against the alleged conspirators to "throw" a baseball game.

The big southpaw, who owns a farm near here, indicated he is still interested in the welfare of baseball.

"I gave these facts, as concisely as possible, after refraining for some time from going into print at all, as I feared by so doing I would be injuring the standing of baseball," he said.

The husky griddler was in Santa Ana yesterday and conferred with members of the board of education relative to the possibility of obtaining such an appointment. Finch would like to begin work with the opening of the second term in February.

Finch played four years at Whittier, excelling at bucking the line and as a forward passer. Later he coached at several high schools, including Bakersfield where he was an assistant during the heyday of the famous Driller state championship eleven. He was there in 1921 when the Bakersfield aggregation rudely prevented Poly from winning a state championship.

Oliver, now convalescing from an operation for appendicitis, has made no announcement about his plans for next year but it is understood he is satisfied here and will remain at the helm of athletics. Whether Finch would be acceptable as an assistant is not known.

The next of the national amateur billiard championships will be the tournament for the Class B 18.2 ballline title, which will be staged in Brooklyn beginning Jan. 21.

Callahan Offered Bout In New York

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29.—Mushy Callahan has been offered $20,000 to defend his junior welterweight championship in Madison Square Garden, New York, his manager, Eddie Sears announced today. Tex Rickard, who wants to stage a bout intended to pair Callahan against Amby Divoli, young New York sensation.

The match will be held some time after January 19, if all the principals agree.

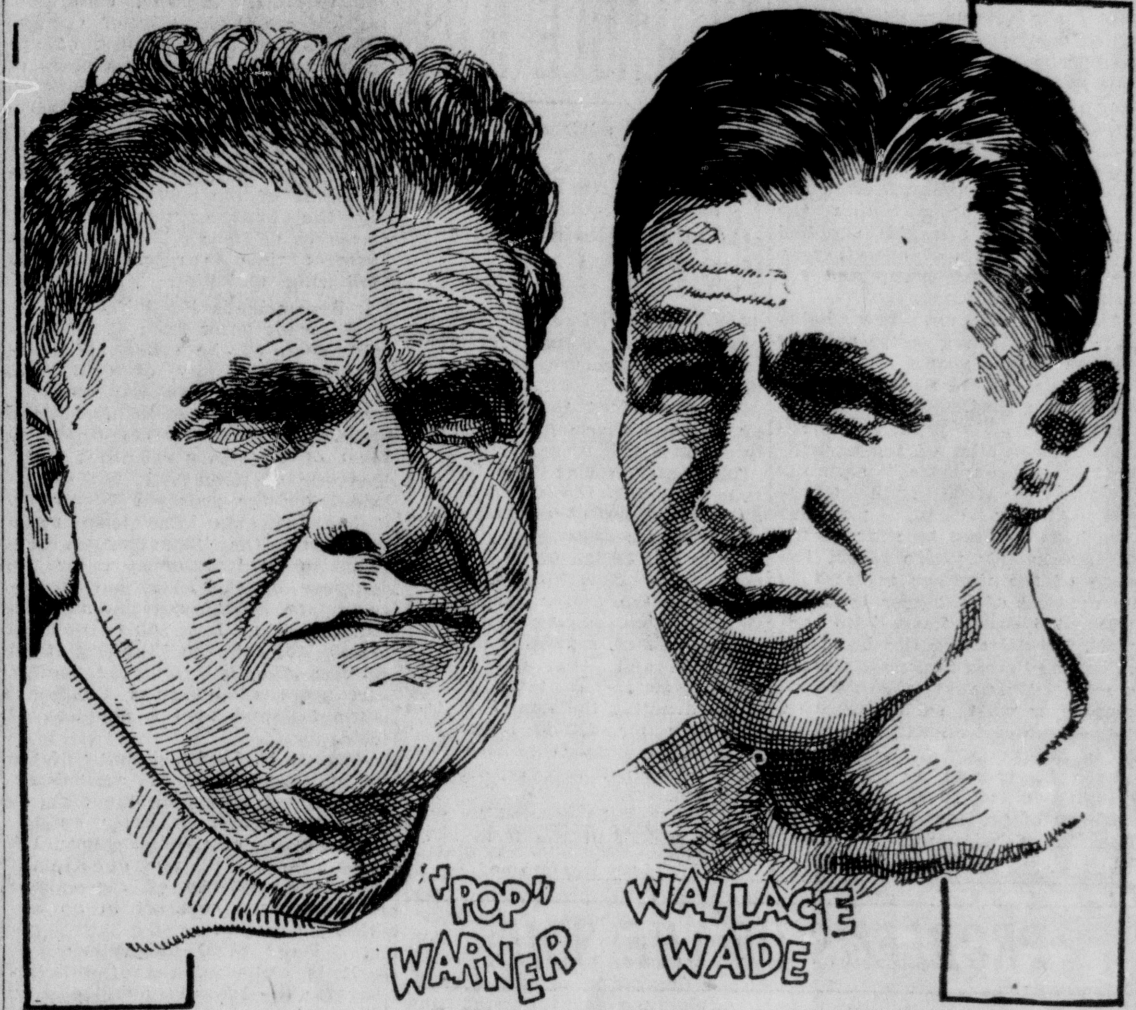

MILLER SETS RECORD

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Dec. 29.—Billy Cox, Penn State, set a record for the mile run on the local indoor track of the Rochester A. C. by finishing the distance in 4:26 4/5.

L. A. A. C. BEATS BEARS

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29.—Coach "Nibs" Price's University of California basketball team took a 29-17 trouncing at the hands of the Los Angeles Athletic club here last night.

RIVAL COACHES ARE MASTER MINDS OF GRID

STANFORD brought Glenn Warner to the Pacific coast to put Stanford on the football map. He has more than exceeded expectations. In three years, he has two victories and a tie game over California, Stanford's greatest rival. This year his team won the Pacific coast conference championship.

LIKE Stanford, Alabama imported Wallace Wade to restore the waning prestige of the Crimson Tide. He has delivered with a vengeance. In his first year he lost the southern title in the final game with Florida. For the past three years his eleven have been the best in the south, titleholders of that section.

Baby Joe Gans Is Victor Over Daley

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29.—Baby Joe Gans, Negro lightweight, scored a technical knockout in the fifth of his scheduled ten round main event with Pete Daley, San Francisco battler, at the Vernon arena last night. The bout was stopped by Referee Abe Roth to save Daley further punishment.

TIDE DEPENDS ON POWERFUL RUNNING PLAYS

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Dec. 29.—Pacific Coast fans probably have the impression, based on Alabama's tactics in the Washington game last year, that the Crimson Tide relies chiefly on forward passing and trick plays for touchdowns. Such has not been the case this year and will not be when the rulers of Dixie's gridirons meet Stanford at Pasadena Saturday.

In only one game this season did Coach Wallace Wade order his crimson warriors to launch a general air attack. That was against Georgia Tech, when Alabama failed to pierce the Tornado line.

Simple football tactics with end runs and line plunges will characterize Alabama's offensive against the Cardinals and passing will be resorted to only as a last hope.

Wade is cognizant of the fact that Stanford has built up one of the strongest defenses against passing in the country.

The two best tackles in the South are on the Alabama line and through them much yardage against Stanford is expected. The two are Perry and Pickard. Both played sensational games against Washington last year. They are just as good defensive players.

Here are a few salient facts about how the Tide rolls back on defense.

In piling up a total of 242 points to their opponents' 20, the Alabamians have had their goal crossed only three times this season. No opposing team scored more than one touchdown against them this year.

Not one first down has been made around "Wu" Winslett's end position all season.

In every one of its nine games this season Alabama linemen have broken through to block at least one punt each game.

In six of Alabama's nine games the opponents failed to score.

Speaker Keeps Silent On Defense Plans

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Dec. 29.—After announcing last night that he would make a public statement this morning on what action he would take to clear his name in the baseball scandal, Tris Speaker today told newspapermen that he had changed his mind and would have no announcement to make.

That Speaker and Cobb are not without friends in this case is evinced in several ways. A Cleveland newspaper, taking a ballot on baseball fans' opinion of the guilt or innocence, announced that the first returns showed that both are held blameless by a majority of 50 to 1.

LOCAL WOMEN TIE HACIENDA GOLFERS

Santa Ana Country club's women's golf team finished in a tie, 4 1/2 to 4 1/2, with the Hacienda Country club sextette in inter-club match play over the local course yesterday.

Mrs. Harry Pressler, wife of one of the state's foremost feminine golfers, and her partner, Mrs. B. A. Edington, gave the visitors a 3 to 0 lead in the first match but this advantage was nullified by Mrs. J. L. Wheeler and Mrs. J. K. McDonald, of the Santa Ana team, who also blanked their opponents.

Results:

Mrs. Harry Pressler and Mrs. B. A. Edington (H) 3, Mrs. B. J. MacMullen and Mrs. J. L. Ainsworth (SA) 0; Mrs. Ray Scott and Mrs. M. E. Fletcher (H) 1 1/2, Mrs. Hugh Shields and Mrs. L. H. Robinson (SA) 1 1/2; Mrs. Harold Demerest (H) 0, Mrs. J. L. Wheeler and Mrs. J. K. McDonald 3.

IOWA GETS INDIAN STAR

LAWRENCE, Kas., Dec. 29.—Mayes McLain, fullback on the Haskell Indian eleven last season and one of the greatest individual scorers in the game, will enter the University of Iowa in February. McLain is expected to be eligible for varsity football at Iowa next fall.

COVINA COLTS LOSE TITLE TO SAN MATEO HI

BURLINGAME, Cal., Dec. 29.—"Brick" Mitchell and his San Mateo high school football team today are the talk of San Mateo county and the champion interscholastic footballers of California.

The Mateans swept through the one remaining obstacle to their title hopes yesterday by crushing and almost outclassing Covina high, champions of the Southern California district. The score was 20 to 0.

Covina's illusions of a title were dissipated after just 14 seconds of play when the first Matean touchdown was made. The contest appeared to be in doubt no longer than those first few seconds.

Captain Don Rieke, of Covina, lived up to advance reports as to his football talent. He made one 24-yard end run without any aid from his teammates, shaking off first one Matean tackler and then another. He followed this gain with shorter ones of nine and seven yards when the Mateans stopped him. Rieke was virtually the whole Colt team on offense.

Fena, who made two of the Matean touchdowns starred in the backfield with Miller and Hurd.

The first touchdown came on a punt blocked by San Mateo. Bogue carried the ball over for a touchdown.

In the second quarter Fena plunged through center after he and Miller had alternated working the ball up toward the goalposts.

Fena made the final touchdown in the fourth period. Miller's 25 yard run preceded it.

The closest Covina came to scoring was the Matean 16 yard line.

PROMOTERS BID FOR TUNNEY'S SERVICES

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Imminent arrival of Gene Tunney from a vacation in Maine is expected to lead to conversations here concerning his defense of the heavyweight championship.

Humbert Fugazy and Tex Rickard, rival promoters, await Tunney with propositions and both appear confident they will be able to land the match.

Fugazy announced he was dickering for a bout between Tunney and Jack Delaney to take place next summer. Rickard made sounds bordering on "is zat so?" and countered with the suggestion that Gene would meet the winner of a bout between Jack Dempsey and the fighter who survives an elimination tournament now under way.

ARMY WARM-UPS BIZ

WEST POINT, Dec. 29.—The Army football will break a custom of long standing next fall when it opens its football schedule September 24. This is one week earlier than the traditional start. The Yale game has been moved up to Oct. 22. The schedule calls for 10 games but there are four "warm-up" contests in the preliminary division with Boston U, Detroit, Marquette and Davis-Elkins.

RECORD WITH BROGANS

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—John Thomas, star negro high jumper of Public school No. 3 recently won his event in the city-wide competition here and then went after the interscholastic record. He missed it by a fraction of an inch. When he stepped up to receive his prize the judges found that instead of wearing regulation rubber or light jumping shoes, he had on a big pair of army brogans.

ENGLISH FLYWEIGHT

LONDON, Eng., Dec. 29.—The arrival of Ernie Jarvis, English flyweight, who knocked out Morrishino, French champion, in the United States, will speed up action and supply a needed impetus in that division. Jarvis will leave soon, he declares.

GRID PROFIT AT PENN

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 29.—Football paid the University of Pennsylvania a profit of $314,956, according to a statement just released by university authorities at the end of the current season.

53,000 TO SEE NATIONAL GRID TITLE DECIDED

Thousands of Applications For Tickets Turned Back To Disappointed Fans

By LINCOLN QUARBERG
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 29.—The largest audience that ever witnessed the annual east-west New Year's Day classic at the Rose Bowl here has been assured for the clash between Alabama and Stanford next Saturday.

Tournament of Roses officials announced today that all of the 53,000 seats in the picturesque bowl, in the Pasadena foothills, have been sold, and that thousands of applications were turned back to disappointed fans.

The Alabama-Stanford battle, bringing together two of America's greatest undefeated gridiron eleven in a contest that will decide the mythical national championship, is attracting more interest, by far, than any of the previous New Year's Day spectacles.

Dixie Team Brilliant

The brilliant performance of the Dixie champions here last year when they vanquished the powerful Washington university eleven, 20 to 19, and the known strength of the Palo Alto team, undefeated Pacific Coast champions, insures for the fans the sort of post-season battle they are willing to pay fancy prices to see, if necessary.

Scalpers are already demanding from $10 to $25 for tickets.

Attendance at the Tournament of Roses classic in previous years has not exceeded 45,000, and the total gate receipts $750,000. This year's east-west encounter, the tenth since the event was inaugurated 11 years ago, will draw a gross of approximately $200,000.

Pacific coast fans are rooting for a Stanford victory, counting on the "Pop" Warner eleven to retrieve the honors of the far west, which went down to defeat to the Dixie eleven a year ago.

Four of the nation's east-west games in past years have gone to Pacific coast teams. Eastern eleven have won three of the contests, and two games resulted in tie scores.

A colorful crowd will attend the championship battle Saturday.

Alabama Proxy Here

The southern players were accompanied here by officials of the Southern conference, a flock of rooters and George H. Denny, president of the University of Alabama. More than a score of nationally known players and coaches, from all sections of the country, will witness the game from the sidelines and press boxes.

They include Tad Jones, of Yale; Alonzo Stagg, Chicago; Bob Zuppke, Illinois, and many others. Howard Jones, nationally famous U. S. C. coach, will be a member of the United Press staff "covering" the game. "Red" Grange, Ernie Nevers and other notable gridiron figures, will also attend the contest.

In the spectators' boxes will be the movie crowd, including Charlie Chaplin, Mary Pickford, Will Rogers, Doug Fairbanks, Lon Chaney, Count Tolstoy, Coleman Moore, Elinor Glyn and others. Suzanne Lenglen, tennis star, will be present to witness what she says is her first American football game. Jack Dempsey and Estelle Taylor have reserved one of the boxes and will have a party of 13 near the sidelines.

ALABAMA VARSITY ENDS STRENUOUS WORK

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 29.—Alabama's Crimson Tide went through its last strenuous scrimmage at the Rose Bowl today in preparation for the New Year's Day battle with Stanford.

Coach Wallace Wade will polish off his warriors tomorrow and Friday with light workouts. The coach is apparently well pleased with the showing of the southern champions thus far.

"The boys are in as good condition today as at any time this season," Wade said.

The Stanford squad went through a stiff drill after the southerners left the bowl. Coach "Pop" Warner was not satisfied with the condition of his players. "They are over-confident," he said.

AGGIES DEFEAT CLUBMEN

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29.—The crack Oregon Aggies basketball athletic club team, a 27 to 20 trouncing here last night. The Aggies held the upper hand all the way running up a 10 to 1 lead in the first half.

RANCHERS GET CHANCE TO SEE SEVEN NATIONS

Production and Marketing Methods of Europe Will Be Study Subjects

Some 500 farm folks—Farm Bureau members, co-operative association representatives, college of agricultural men and women, representatives of the agricultural press—will tour Europe next year under the auspices of the American Farm Bureau Federation, according to a plan announced by the A. F. B. F. last week.

This tour is to be known as the American Farm Bureau Federation 1927 co-operative pilgrimage. Those on the tour will visit England, France, Scotland, Belgium, Germany, Holland, Denmark and the Isle of Jersey. The trip will cover approximately 10,000 miles by boat, rail and automobile—6,700 miles by steamer, 2500 by railroad and 800 miles by automobile.

Saving Is Afforded

The purpose of the tour, as announced, is to provide an opportunity for American farm people to observe and study at first hand successful marketing and production methods that have been developed by European people. The part of the American Farm Bureau Federation in sponsoring the tour is to enable those on the trip to come in contact with officials and to see and visit places of interest, which would be closed to the individual tourist. The A. F. B. F. sponsoring of the tour also effects a tremendous saving to the individual desiring to make the trip.

The American Farm Bureau Federation has already made contact and arrangements with American ambassadors and ministers to the countries to be visited. Through the United States department of agriculture officials abroad, contact has been made with the government agricultural agencies of the foreign countries and with individual co-operative associations and producing groups.

Some of the agricultural features that will be of particular interest and value to American farmers in their struggle to make their business more profitable include the agricultural experiment stations at Askov, the Royal Agricultural school at Borup, co-operative institution at Odense, the agricultural experiment station at Hillerd (devoted to technique in butter and cheese making), the King of England's private farm at Windsor, 51 co-operative slaughter houses at Frederikssund, the Seed Experiment station at Roskilde, "Kielgaard" estate (noted for the cultivation of moor and agriculture at Berlin (noted for use of machinery), and "Tueschen" sugar beet farm near Berlin.

The American Farm Bureau Federation 1927 Co-operative Pilgrimage has been arranged by the American Farm Bureau Federation to provide a unique, unusual opportunity to farm people desiring to visit Europe. It will enable them to make the trip in company with congenial companions and under the most advantageous auspices.

Brings Leaders Together
One of the important advantages of the trip will be the bringing together, for a period of two months, of the agricultural leadership of America. Of unusual interest will be the special dinner arranged in each of the cities of Copenhagen, Berlin and London, at which all members of the pilgrimage will be guests and to which distinguished officials of each of these countries will be invited, especially those who devote their primary attention to agriculture.

The American Farm Bureau Federation invites all interested members to join the party which will sail from New York City on July 30, 1927.

A 20-page illustrated booklet giving all details of this tour will be gladly sent upon request. Address American Farm Bureau Federation, 58 East Washington Street, Chicago, Ill.

COTTON SEEN SAVED BY COOLIDGE PLAN

STILLWATER, Okla., Dec. 29.—Co-operative marketing on a large scale is the most logical solution to the cotton crop problem in the opinion of Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of the Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical college here.

"An organization with a strong loyal membership running up to 1,500,000 farmers and controlling from 70 to 80 per cent of the cotton crop would know the probable supply and demand in advance and advise members what to expect," explains Dr. Knapp.

"A loyal membership would follow the safe suggestions of the co-operative organization and so prevent disastrous surpluses from piling up."

"Until co-operative marketing is established on this large scale, the sources from which the farmer gets his credit will have a great deal to do with problem and should try to prevent over-production," Dr. Knapp concludes.

Reduction in water areas in states west of the Mississippi is causing tremendous mortality among wild fowl, says Dr. E. W. Nelson, chief of the United States biological survey. He says that the marshes that are drying up could be flooded at moderate expense and be converted from death traps into healthy resorts for birds.

Name Commission To Make Study Of Agriculture

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—Appointment of the business men's commission on agriculture to inquire into the agricultural problem and its relation to the economic life of the United States, was announced this week.

Charles Nagel, of Kirby and Nagel, St. Louis, announced that he had accepted the chairmanship and would be associated with Robert W. Bingham, publisher of the Louisville Courier-Journal and the Louisville Times; E. N. Brown of New York, chairman of the St. Louis-San Francisco Railway company; E. M. Merr of New York, president of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Co.; J. G. Lonsdale, president of the National Bank of Commerce, St. Louis; John Stuart, president of Quaker Oats Co., Chicago; Alfred H. Swayne, vice president of General Motors corporation, New York, and Paul M. Warburg, chairman of the International Acceptance corporation, New York. Frank D. Graham, professor of economics at Princeton university, will act as economic advisor.

FARMERS VISIT DAIRY FARM TO JUDGE ANIMALS

By W. M. CORY
Assistant Farm Advisor

Dairymen of the county had the opportunity of viewing a very instructive exhibit of dairy animals at the meeting held by the agricultural extension service at W. L. Walton's place.

Walton has been dairying for some years and early in the game he was fortunate enough to secure possession of what has proven to be a very valuable animal. Complete production records are not available but since last February this cow has produced 511.4 pounds of butterfat. She was due during April and May so this production represents the last two months of one lactation period and six months on the present period.

Walton also has three of her daughters, the oldest one of which has produced 393.2 pounds of butterfat since last February. He has three heifers from this cow, all of which are quite promising looking individuals.

With a start such as this, any dairyman would have something of which to be proud.

As an educational feature, the group assembled was called upon to guess on which was the higher tester of two animals shown. One was a Jersey-Holstein cross, the other a purebred Holstein. Both were good looking dairy animals. The majority of the crowd favored the Jersey-Holstein cross as being the higher tester. Her average test for seven months was 3.2 per cent, with a production of 238.1 pounds of butterfat. The Holstein's average test for nine months was 4.3 per cent, with a production of 453.5 pounds of butterfat.

This was rather amazing to most, as often times, an animal of exceptionally high test will be obtained from such a cross. This only goes to show further that he cannot be sure whether he will get an animal with characteristic Jersey milk production and Holstein test, or vice-versa, when such crosses are made. The safest and unquestionably most constructive breeding is to avoid making such crosses, although the animal in question was going to make a good account of herself.

NEW MARKETS TO BE OPENED SOON

Coming directly as a result of the trip made to the orient last summer by Professor B. H. Crocheron, director of agricultural extension in the University of California, one agricultural attaché for the consular service in the orient is on the way to Shanghai, sent by the United States department of agriculture, and the department of commerce has signified its intention of sending three more during the coming year. These men will devote the entire time to opening up and developing markets for American agricultural products, particularly those of California.

On his visit to China, Professor Crocheron was particularly impressed with the lack of fresh fruits and vegetables available there, with the poor milk and butter imported, and with the opportunity for California to establish a market for these and other products.

Returning, he pointed out the value of commercial attaches to the industry of the United States, and insisted that the government could just as properly encourage markets for its agricultural industry. He began an active campaign, which culminated in a recent trip to Washington, D. C., from which he has just returned.

In Washington he found that Paul O. Nyhus already was on his way to China and that the department of commerce was so interested that it intended sending three men to the orient next summer.

CITRUS MEN TO MAKE STUDY OF CROP EXPENSES

Agricultural Extension Service Cooperates in Scientific Project

A group of Orange county citrus growers have undertaken a scientific study of the cost of producing oranges and lemons under Orange county conditions, in co-operation with the agricultural extension service. About 40 growers kept labor records last year and some 60 more have indicated their interest in the study of production costs for the coming year, making a total of about 100.

The record sheets are sent out each month from the farm advisor's office to be filled in and returned at the end of the month by the co-operating grower. The record sheets are made up in a brief and simple manner so as to entail the minimum of time and labor in preparation.

As the records come in they are summarized and at the end of the year, the grower is furnished a comprehensive analysis of his orange and lemon business. This analysis includes the cost of the various orchard operations, such as irrigation, cultivation, pest control, pruning and the like. These costs are compared with similar figures for the average costs for the same aged trees within the group. Figures are also supplied showing the cost of operating in the low producing group and the high producing group.

Arrangements are now being made for a meeting of the growers who kept this year's records, at which data derived from this study will be presented.

Prof. L. W. Fluharty, farm management specialist of the agricultural extension service, is assisting Farm Advisor Wahlberg in the project. Already certain practices have been changed by some of the growers in this year's group, because of the findings revealed in the analysis of last year's business. Cultivation costs have been reduced, irrigation practices have been revised, and other important changes made. This survey shows each co-operator what each operation costs in comparison with the average in the group.

As a larger number of records will give a more representative summary of production costs, the Extension Service will keep enrollment open to January 1.

PROBLEMS OF THE SOIL

Q. What are the small bugs that I am sending you? They seem to be all over the house and are eating woolen clothes. I have never seen anything like them before. What can I do to get rid of them?—E. M. J.

A. The insects are larvae of the Buffalo carpet beetle. They occasionally do considerable damage to woolen goods, feathers, hair and other dried animal products. The adult beetles are oval in shape, black and covered with white, brown and yellowish scales, giving them a mottled appearance. The larvae, as you have noted, are yellowish brown and covered with long brown hairs. Outside of houses, the adult beetles often may be found on wild plants, such as wild buckwheat, conocephalus (lilac), wild carrots, etc.

Control of this insect is, fortunately, fairly easy. Spray infested articles and places with a weak solution of lysol, using one pint to five gallons of water. Use as fine a spray as possible. The odor will evaporate in about 12 hours.

Q. I would like to know whether or not it is all right to pick Christmas berries? Some people say it is and others not.—Miss W. L.

A. The California state law forbids mutilation of the Toyon or Christmas berry bushes growing on public lands. If one gets permission in writing, from the owner of bushes growing on privately-owned lands it is perfectly legal to pick the berries. Otherwise not. The object of this law is, of course, to prevent the total destruction of this beautiful plant.

Q. What can I do with a chayote plant that seems to be dying down? It was planted last spring and this fall had a dozen or more fruits. We like them so much we hate to lose the plant. Is this a natural thing for it to do?—Mrs. W. B.

A. The chayote is rather easily killed by frost and in such cases dies back to the roots. In frostless localities it may possibly be later in the winter before it dies down, but it is a warm weather plant and grows only in the late spring and summer. Next spring it will come up again and cover a much larger area than it did this season. The root system is not injured by frost and cold weather. The only care that need be given the roots in the winter is to see that, in the absence of rains, they do not entirely dry out.

Q. I would appreciate a suggestion as to how to kill eucalyptus and pepper tree roots without digging them out. We have cut the trees down to the ground and want to put a wall over the place where they grew but shoots keep coming up from the roots.—L. W. E.

A. There is no method known

St. Bernard Is Good Mother To Scrawny Pigs

NICE, Dec. 29.—The problem of raising runt pigs has been solved by a St. Bernard dog belonging to a Riviera farmer and pig raiser, M. Zucchini.

Henriette, the dog, inspects each fresh litter of pigs, chooses one or two tiny runts, and carries them to her kennel where they are cared for in a methodical and hygienic manner.

Zucchini says that Henriette is one of the best pig mothers in the world. At a minimum cost she has developed runt pigs to the point where they nearly equal their stronger brothers in selling value. She is mothering her seventh couple of infant pigs. The dog's value, however, is somewhat impaired by the fact that she is antagonistic to all pigs who have not occupied her kennel.

NEW BULLETIN ON HEATING IS AVAILABLE NOW

The farm advisor's office announces that a new supply of circulars on the use of thermometers for orchard heating is now available at headquarters in the hall of records, Santa Ana.

It is obvious that the success of orchard heating operations depends upon an accurate knowledge of the temperature in all parts of the orchard. This information can be obtained through the use of accurate thermometers, properly exposed and properly read.

The new circular goes into detail regarding the description of desirable types of minimum temperature thermometers that are safe to use in the orchard heating campaign. Directions are given regarding the proper exposures of thermometers, placing the shelters in the orchard, regarding the thermometer, and the use of fruit thermometers. A table is also given denoting the damaging temperatures for different kinds of fruit. A paragraph is also given on the testing and repairing of thermometers.

Copies may be secured by writing or calling at the farm advisor's office.

LABORATORY TO TELL DISEASES OF HENS ASKED

Poultry Associations and Growers Co-operate on Southland Project

By A. M. STANLEY
Secretary-Manager

Orange County Farm Bureau
The increasing probability of the establishment of a diagnostic laboratory in Southern California for the determination of poultry diseases, heralds the fulfillment of a long cherished dream of the poultry department of the Orange County Farm Bureau, which started the movement several months ago.

An effort was made to establish the laboratory in co-operation with other organizations interested in the poultry industry. The state, already maintaining such an institution at Petaluma, was reluctant to undertake a similar work in the south, so the co-operative plan was undertaken. At the present time the division of veterinary science, college of agriculture, University of California, the state department of agriculture, the poultry producers of Southern California and the Seven Southern Counties poultry department of the farm bureau, are working toward the establishment of the laboratory co-operative, as a result of the movement started by the local organization. The progress of their efforts up to the present time is recorded in the following activities.

Recommends Fund Transfer
A recent letter from E. D. Merrill, dean of the college of agriculture, University of California, states that he has recommended the transfer of $1000 from the contingent fund of his office to that of veterinary science for the purpose of purchasing the equipment for the proposed laboratory. Arrangements have been made to locate the laboratory in Los Angeles on land donated for the purpose by the Poultrymen's Co-operative Milling association. This organization has also donated $1000 toward the building fund of the laboratory and the poultry producers of Southern California have followed with a donation of $500.

George H. Hecke, director of the state department of agriculture, has agreed to supply the services of Dr. Graybill to carry on the active work of the laboratory. Dr. J. R. Beach of the division of veterinary science of the college of agriculture will act in an advisory capacity.

Build $4000 Laboratory
It is estimated that the building for the laboratory will cost in the neighborhood of $4000. The Seven Southern Counties Poultry department of the farm bureau, to which the matter was referred by the local organization, has undertaken to raise these additional funds. Hatcheries, feed dealers and other people interested in and dependent upon the poultry industry will be asked to donate. W. S. Hatch and W. M. Cory have been authorized to receive funds for the work in Orange county.

The establishment of the diagnostic laboratory in Southern California will give the industry in this section new impetus. It is thought. Heretofore, the poultrymen have been required to send their specimens for disease determination to Berkeley and very often the carcass was too far decomposed to be utilized and because of the lack of proper determination the disease made heavy inroads on the flocks before it could be successfully combated. Another feature of the laboratory will be to expedite the work of taking blood tests for bacillary white diarrhea, which has become quite a problem.

Federal Farm F-A-C-T-S

Among the preparations for cornborer control in the spring of 1927 are the importations of parasites from Hyeres, France.

It is estimated by the United States department of agriculture that 79,000,000 of the 113,537,000 acres of wet land of the United States are of potential economic importance.

Prices of bran and middlings have recently advanced about $2 a ton, but early in December they were still lower than a year ago, according to department of agriculture reports.

The annual family living costs on 2000 American farms averaged $1597 each, according to figures collected by the department of agriculture. Of this, $684, or 43 per cent, was furnished by the farm.

The bureau of agricultural economics of the United States department of agriculture is starting an economic study and analysis of the production and marketing of dairy products in New England. It will study particularly the possibility of setting up an improved co-operative marketing organization.

A partially completed survey by the department of agriculture shows that the total taxes collected from farmers in 11 states were slightly higher in 1926 than they were in 1925. These 11 states contain nearly one-third of the farm acreage of the country.
